McCarthy Assails President

GOP Senators Distressed By Attack On Ike

Many Spring To The Defense Of President, Condemn Wis. Solon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Many Republican senators sprang to the defense of President Eisenhower today after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) accused the chief executive of showing weakness toward communism.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said McCarthy's outburst "shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday," while Sen. Bush (R-Conn) called it an "inflammatory statement."

Many Deplore Attack

Others deplored McCarthy's attack as one which could create disunity in the Republican ranks and give comfort to the Red world.

None of the senators who could be reached for comment gave 100 per cent endorsement to McCarthy's assertion that:

"I find the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our (Red-probing) committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who led the floor fight against Senate condemnation of the Wisconsin senator's conduct, came closest when he commented, "I hardly think it is necessary for the chief executive to be warmly congratulating anyone in this unfortunate affair . . . in this political trial, and that is all it was, the 96 senators were not the judges. The American people were the judges . . . McCarthy stands vindicated before the jury of the American people."

Several senators who voted against condemning McCarthy rallied to the President's support. One of them was Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), who told a reporter:

Doesn't Know President

"I disagree with Sen. McCarthy that the Eisenhower administration has not fought communism at home and abroad . . . I agree with the administration that extreme measures must not be taken in the prisoner situation unless it is absolutely necessary."

Sen. Martin (R-Pa), who also voted against condemnation, said, "when anybody accuses Gen. Eisenhower of not fighting communism, they don't know the man."

"I just regret the attack," commented Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the conference of all GOP senators and another who voted against condemnation.

There were Democrats who took a more lighthearted view. "The plot thickens," said Sen. Green (D-RI). Sen. Holland (D-Fla) said, "I see no point in getting mixed up in a wrangle between the President and a senator of his own party."

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) expressed deep concern "in any attack from whatever source that in any way impugns the loyalty of the President of the United States."

Sen. Kilgore (D-WVa) said: "This looks to me like either a drive to take over control of the Republican party or to launch a third party."

Actress Collapses

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (AP)—Actress Eleanor Parker collapsed last night and was ordered to a hospital for a 48-hour rest. Her studio said she had made three pictures in a row.

NEW MINISTER? Ichiro Hatoyama, a conservative pro-American will likely succeed Shigeru Yoshida as Japan's prime minister. Yoshida stepped down from the post amid overwhelming opposition to his policies.

Hospital Aide Backs Sheppard Intruder Story

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7 (AP) — A blonde X-ray technician testified today that Dr. Samuel Sheppard—while doped, dazed and semi-coherent—stuck to his story that a stranger killed his wife.

The 30-year-old osteopath is on trial for his life in the July 4 murder of his pregnant, 31-year-old wife, Marilyn. He claims a marauder killed her.

The technician, Mrs. Eileen Huge, a plump little woman in a white uniform, described how Dr. Sheppard was brought into her X-ray room at the family osteopathic hospital shortly after Marilyn's slaying. He had just been given a morphine derivative.

"He was never talking to anyone," Mrs. Huge testified. "He was talking to the room. He was mumbling and moaning. He said, 'I heard Marilyn scream and I tried to get to her. Things like this don't happen. This couldn't have happened.'

"He said, 'I thought I saw someone on the beach. Someone hit me from behind.' "

Sheppard contends the stranger beat him unconscious when he tried to aid his wife, then knocked him out a second time on the Lake Erie beach out side the home and left him with his feet in the water and his head on the sand.

In support of this, another employer of the hospital, Nurse Anna Franz, testified she helped undress Dr. Sheppard when he was first taken to the hospital for treatment.

"His body and feet were icy cold and he was clammy," she said. "And his feet looked like they were water-soaked, like something that had been in the water a long time. They were just shriveled up like they had been in water a long time."

The defense ran out of witnesses late in the day and the trial recessed about 30 minutes early. Twenty more witnesses were subpenaed for tomorrow, although not all of them may be used.

Earlier in the day, the state hinted the slain Marilyn wanted a separation from Dr. Sheppard and that a sister-in-law tried to cool her off.

Cold U. S. Citizens Can Go South

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 7 (AP)—Note to shivering U.S. citizens: Buenos Aires and most of the rest of the country went through its fifth day today of a better-than-90-degree heat wave. Today it was 97. Saturday it was 99. And there's a water shortage.

It's summer in the southern hemisphere.

Reds Broadcast An Alleged "Confession" By Col. Arnold

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Red China today broadcast a long statement attributed to jailed American Air Force Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., and said it "made it clear" he was the commanding officer of a spy-dropping squadron.

The statement, broadcast by Peiping radio and monitored here, closely parallels the evidence it claimed was given by Arnold at the Nov. 23 trial when he was jailed for 10 years and 10 other airmen were sentenced to terms of four to eight years on spy charges.

It was the latest move by the Communists in citing "evidence" against the airmen which has poured from Peiping radio almost daily since the trial.

In broadcasting the statement, Peiping made no mention of the American protest which was handed to the United Nations today.

At the same time, the Communists broadcast what they called "eyewitness accounts" of the capture of the airmen Jan. 13, 1953.

Arnold, whose hometown is Silver Spring, Md., piloted a B29 four-engine bomber which, the Air Force says, was shot down over North Korea during bombing mission. The Chinese claimed the bomber was over Manchuria when it was shot down.

"A statement made by John Knox Arnold Jr. made it clear that the United States 581st Air Supply and Communications Wing is a special operations wing exclusively serving the Central Intelligence Agency," the broadcast said.

"The statement, written and signed by Arnold, is now on display in the exhibition of the equipment found on the convicted United States spies which opened in Peiping yesterday."

UN Allies To Push Resolution For Release Of 11 U.S. Airmen

General Assembly To Take Up Debate Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States and its Korean War Allies pushed hard today for the largest possible U. N. vote favoring their resolution seeking release of 11 American airmen held as spies by Red China and condemning their detention.

The resolution denounces the trial and imprisonment of the airmen as well as the detention of all other captured U.N. personnel, as a violation of the Korean armistice. It calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for their release and report back by Dec. 31.

Seek Large Vote

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, today handed Hammarskjoid the resolution, which was agreed upon yesterday by the United States and the 15 other U.N. members who fought the Reds in Korea. At the same time the machinery of these delegations was set in motion to obtain a large vote as a demonstration to the Communist Chinese of world disapproval.

The Assembly will convene tomorrow at 3 p.m. in an unusual meeting to take up the resolution, sponsored by the United States Australia, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, South Africa and Britain. A final vote is expected later in the week.

The resolution does not mention two other men whose sentences were announced by the Chinese at the same time as those of the 11. Those two were not under the U.N. command.

Avoids Condemnation

The resolution avoided a direct condemnation of China for the sentences of the 11 men but it lumped the case of the 11 and an undetermined number of other prisoners in a general condemnation as a violation of the armistice.

It requests Hammarskjold "in the name of the United Nations, to seek the release, in accordance with the Korean armistice agreement, of these 11 United Nations Command personnel and all other captured personnel of the United Nations command still detained."

Hammarskjold, asked at a news conference if he would go to Peiping, if necessary, to intercede for the fliers and other personnel, would not give a direct answer and he would not discuss the role set for him in the resolution, saying he had not had time to study it.

Pontiff Lights Shrine Torch

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 7 (AP)—Pope Pius XII lighted an electric torch at a Sicilian shrine of the Virgin Mary by pressing a switch button from his sickbed tonight, the eve of the end of the Roman Catholic Marian year.

The ceremony at 6 p. m. came after a day in which the Pope continued to slowly regain strength following the most serious illness of his 15-year reign.

The switch button was brought to the pontiff's bedside by his assistant secretary of state, Msgr. Angelo Dell'Acqua.

Almost 500 miles away, a torch at the Sanctuary of the Most Holy Mary of Consolation at Paterno, on Sicily's east coast, blazed alight as the Pope's finger touched the switch. The light was visible far out at sea.

Tomorrow from his white-walled sick room the Pope will end the Marian year with a broadcast blessing to the city and the world at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. EST).

The Pope had small quantities of coffee, milk, chicken broth and fruit juices today. One of his doctors said the Pope had been fed spoonfuls of broth and fruit juices four times "at his own request."

Soviet Wildcats Plague Poland

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 7 (AP)—Western Poland is being plagued by an invasion of wildcats apparently coming from the Soviet Union, the Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy says. Special hunting parties have been organized in the Sudeten mountains near Klodzko (Glatz). Previous newspaper reports told of trouble with wolves in the same area.

Rebels Surrender

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Nearly 2,000 of Tunisia's Fellaga rebels have come out of hiding and turned in their guns in acceptance of the Franco-Tunisian amnesty offer, officials said tonight.

Humphrey Backs Treasury Policy Before Probers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said today he sees no need for any drastic action to bolster the nation's economy.

"There is nothing in the present situation that would lead me to believe that we should do anything drastic at the present time," he told the Senate-House Subcommittee on Economic Stabilization.

The statement came during a general discussion of Treasury policies with Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex), who had asked Humphrey whether he thought a lowering of reserve requirements was needed. Such action, by cutting the amount of money banks must deposit in the Federal Reserve system, would permit expanded credit through additional loans.

Patman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) both criticized Treasury policies, contending they had raised interest rates in the last two years to "excessive" levels with consequent profit to mortgage lenders and speculators in government bonds.

Humphrey defended the policies, saying the Treasury had only "met the market," rather than leading it higher, in paying higher interest rates on securities issued early in 1953. And an increase in rates on government-backed housing loans approved in May, 1953, he said, had helped stimulate the housing boom of 1953-54.

Replying to Patman's contention that the increase had cost veterans more and profited mortgage lenders, Humphrey said the action made such loans easier to get and "gave veterans and others actual loans with which to build houses, instead of just something meaningless on paper."

Humphrey appeared before the subcommittee as it concluded a two-day hearing on monetary policy and management of the national debt, and their effect on business and employment.

He said the Treasury's policies from the outset under his guidance had been "designed to promote high employment, rising production, and a stable dollar."

Humphrey said that "major tax reductions and comprehensive tax revisions . . . ending of price controls and savings in government spending . . . are helping sustain the economy, increase employment and production."

Pearl Harbor Date Is Commemorated

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7 (AP)—A brisk northeast wind whipped light mist over the hulk of the battleship Arizona today as veteran groups laid wreaths in commemoration of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor 13 years ago.

Dr. Eugene C. Blake, president of the National Council of Churches said in a brief prayer for the dead, "preserve us, whose lives were saved by their sacrifice, from foolishness or other sin which would lead again to conflict or to a sorry repetition of the tragedy we now recall."

A flag was raised and a bugler sounded taps.

Volcano Erupts Without Damage

STROMBOLI, Italy, Dec. 7 (AP)—Stromboli's latest fiery eruption ended today without causing damage or casualties.

For 24 hours, molten lava poured down the sides of this little island's 3,040-foot volcano and into the sea.

A fishing village on the northwest side where 800 islanders live had been temporarily abandoned. The villagers spent a rainy night on the beach, ready to take off in boats.

Debate Scheduled

BONN, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Steering Committee of the Bundestag (lower house) today decided against postponing debate on the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany. The committee said the debate would take place as planned on Dec. 15 and 16.

M'Carthy "Swan Song"?

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis), right, turns toward Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) as he makes what he termed "something of a swan song" as chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee. At the time Mundt was presiding over the hearing. McCarthy then cut loose with a blast at President Eisenhower's views on communism. Shortly afterwards the Wisconsin solon left town for an unknown destination.

Economic Help In Asia Sought To Battle Reds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the Eisenhower administration expects to ask Congress to approve a broad program of economic aid to Asia as a bulwark against Communist expansion.

He made that announcement at a news conference at which he also commented that fear of open war has lessened and that both sides can perhaps give more thought to economic competition.

He mentioned no figures and did not say whether loans or gifts would be involved, but other officials have talked of a program in which loans would play a major part. These also have been expressions of hope that allied nations, such as Britain and France, would bear a substantial part of the burden.

Dulles did say, in response to questions, that it was likely that a program of government aid, to be backed up by simultaneous help from private capital, would be sought when Congress reconvenes in January. He said President Eisenhower has approved this principle.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who is known to believe that any aid program should emphasize loans rather than large gifts of the Marshall Plan kind, told a news conference yesterday that "no program has yet been adopted." He said it was still being studied in several departments.

Dulles said today that only the principle has so far been approved, and details are being worked out.

On other points, Dulles told newsmen:

1. The United States is leaving to the United Nations the question of how to seek freedom for 11 U.S. airmen captured the Korean War, and sentenced by Red China last month to long imprisonment.

2. With Britain and France, the United States will attempt to recapture the days when their ambassadors at Moscow could talk informally with high Soviet officials. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, returning tomorrow to Moscow, has authority to seek improvement in diplomatic relations with the Soviet government.

3. The political overthrow of Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida would have no particular effect on U.S.-Japanese relations since basically the friendship of the two countries rests on fundamental considerations of mutual welfare which have nothing to do with personalities.

Opened Wrong Door On Speeding Train

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Actor George Dillon opened the wrong door on a speeding London-Brighton train today and half-stepped out into space before fellow-passenger grabbed him. Dillon, who hung out of the roaring train for half a mile before being hauled in, said he thought he was opening the corridor door.

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Churchill government tonight won House of Commons approval for its 1955 domestic program.

Wife Was Right, He Should Have Gone To Work

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 7 (AP)—J. E. Rose, a railroad district passenger agent, usually works a whole day on Saturday even though his office in the Arkansas Gazette building here normally is closed that day.

And his wife, Rose reports, frequently has chided him about the habit with the remark "you think if you didn't go to that office of yours the building would burn down."

Last Saturday Rose stayed home.

The Gazette building had a serious fire.

Byrd Asks End Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called today for an end to all foreign economic aid and further slashes in government spending in a renewed effort to balance the budget.

Byrd said in a statement he was "very much disappointed" by the announcement from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey yesterday that "we cannot balance the budget for next year."

Humphrey referred at his news conference yesterday to the budget President Eisenhower will send to Congress in January for the year starting next July 1. He gave no deficit figure, but said officials hope to hold it below the three billion dollars for last year. He estimated the current year's deficit at about 4¾ billions.

Byrd, prospective chairman of the Senate Finance Committee in the next Congress, said it is time President Eisenhower fulfilled a campaign promise of a balanced budget.

"The foremost plank in President Eisenhower's campaign," Byrd said, "was the promise of a balanced budget. A reduction of 7 per cent in government spending this year would place our financial affairs on a pay-as-you-go basis without increasing taxes. In the third year of his administration, it is time that he fulfilled his campaign pledge."

Six Moslem Assassins Executed In Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two husky black-garbed executioners today hanged six members of the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood convicted of plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and to overthrow his military regime by killing off scores of army officers.

The sentences, pronounced by a military court Saturday, were carried out at Cairo's military prison despite protests pouring in from many parts of the Moslem world.

The first to die was Mohmoud Abdel Latif, a little tinsmith who fired eight bullets at Nasser in Alexandria Oct. 26 without hitting him.

Mitchell Defends "Union Shop" In Speech To CIO

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today defended the idea of compulsory union membership and condemned state laws which prohibit such requirements in labor contracts.

"I believe that when employers and unions representing a majority of their employes agree on 'union shop' they should have the right to have one," Mitchell said in a speech prepared for the CIO convention.

Under a "union shop" all workers must become union members to keep their jobs. The Taft-Hartley Law permits this but allows individual states to prohibit it. Seventeen states, mostly in the South and West, have such "right-to-work" laws and moves to enact them are underway in other states.

The CIO's reaction appeared to be that while Mitchell's opposition to such laws was warmly welcome, unions preferred repealing the Taft-Hartley sanction and thus killing the state laws at one blow.

CIO President Walter Reuther told reporters "the federal government has overriding responsibility in the field of social and labor legislation" and said he believed the Eisenhower administration has "an obligation to seek a change in the Taft-Hartley Law to accomplish what Secretary Mitchell has said."

The trend of Eisenhower administration recommendations in labor legislation has, until now, been toward encouraging more state, and less federal, control over labor relations problems.

Mitchell's speech included a message from President Eisenhower which said "labor union efforts to help strengthen our general welfare . . . have enriched the lives not only of union members but of millions of Americans."

Attacks Ike For Slacking Against Reds

Denouncement Said "Political War" In The Ranks Of GOP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy publicly assailed President Eisenhower today in what looked like a burn-the-bridges break with the administration.

He accused the President of congratulating senators who hamper "the exposure of communism" and of putting up a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Red Chinese who "are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men."

"I Was Mistaken"

The Wisconsin Republican, who scorned to apologize for conduct for which the Senate condemned him last week, apologized instead today for telling the voters in 1952 that election of Eisenhower would spell a vigorous fight against communism.

"I was mistaken," he said.

The White House, with President Eisenhower's approval, quickly put out figures to show the administration has been tough on communism. It also called attention to Eisenhower's recent remarks that this country must not let itself be goaded into war by Red Chinese acts.

The McCarthy statement, interpreted by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) as open "political war" with the administration, set politicians to figuring the possible effects on the 1956 presidential fight.

Asked if he would join a third party movement, McCarthy said: "I have no interest whatsoever at the present time in a third party. I intend to work in the Republican party."

The qualification "at the present time" was not lost on newsmen.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the McCarthy censure committee, issued a statement saying: "Sen. McCarthy's attack on the President, Sen. Flanders and myself shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday."

Watkins and Flanders, another key figure in the move to rebuke McCarthy, have received felicitations on their work from the President.

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a statement saying: "Sen. McCarthy has made a major error. Without attempting to evaluate his fight against communism, I regret to find him in what must be strange company to him, making a personal attack on the President of the United States.

"The record of the Eisenhower administration on the Communist menace both at home and abroad speaks for itself. I do not think it is necessary to remind the people that President Eisenhower was fighting the Communists quite a few years before Sen. McCarthy made his maiden speech on the subject in the Senate."

McCarthy's attack came in the form of a prepared-in-advance statement which he read at a meeting of his investigations subcommittee. It is currently receiving testimony on Communists in defense jobs.

McCarthy, to the applause of some of the spectators in the hearing room, declared:

Condemns Ike's Actions

"I find that the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

Tiny Tots Pour Out Hearts In Many Letters To Santa

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—"Dear Santa Claus:

"Sometimes I am a good boy and bad too, I will be a good boy now.

"Yours truly, Joseph."

And so, once again, they come. Some happy, many sad, all touching to the heart.

Already, the New York post office has received many great bundles of Santa's mail. Four thousand little letters of hope, despair, joy, sorrow.

"Dear Santa:

"Will you please send me something for Christmas as I have no father and my brother is in the Army? We are on relief and my mother doesn't get much money so she can't get me anything for Christmas I will be thankful for anything you send me."

"Kathleen, 10."

Post office workers have learned to expect most everything as the tots annually pour out their hearts—tell, in their own lovable ways, very much in very few words.

"Dear Santa:

"Please bring me a baby doll and a cradle to put her in. For my boy friend Robert could you bring him a cowboy suit? And last of all, for my best friend Patty a goldfish will do."

"Lesly."

There are about as many laughs as tugs at the heartstrings.

Young Thomas of Rockaway Beach, Queens, didn't take any chance on mistakes as to what he wants. He neatly listed everything on a department store order blank.

He also put down the exact price of each item. The total was $174.85.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 7 (AP)—Pope Pius XII lighted an electric torch at a Sicilian shrine of the Virgin Mary by pressing a switch button from his sickbed tonight, the eve of the end of the Roman Catholic Marian year.

The ceremony at 6 p. m. came after a day in which the Pope continued to slowly regain strength following the most serious illness of his 15-year reign.

The switch button was brought to the pontiff's bedside by his assistant secretary of state, Msgr. Angelo Dell'Acqua.

Almost 500 miles away, a torch at the Sanctuary of the Most Holy Mary of Consolation at Paterno, on Sicily's east coast, blazed alight as the Pope's finger touched the switch. The light was visible far out at sea.

Tomorrow from his white-walled sick room the Pope will end the Marian year with a broadcast blessing to the city and the world at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. EST).

The Pope had small quantities of coffee, milk, chicken broth and fruit juices today. One of his doctors said the Pope had been fed spoonfuls of broth and fruit juices four times "at his own request."

Soviet Wildcats Plague Poland

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 7 (AP)—Western Poland is being plagued by an invasion of wildcats apparently coming from the Soviet Union, the Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy says. Special hunting parties have been organized in the Sudeten mountains near Klodzko (Glatz). Previous newspaper reports told of trouble with wolves in the same area.

Rebels Surrender

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Nearly 2,000 of Tunisia's Fellaga rebels have come out of hiding and turned in their guns in acceptance of the Franco-Tunisian amnesty offer, officials said tonight.

Humphrey Backs Treasury Policy Before Probers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said today he sees no need for any drastic action to bolster the nation's economy.

"There is nothing in the present situation that would lead me to believe that we should do anything drastic at the present time," he told the Senate-House Subcommittee on Economic Stabilization.

The statement came during a general discussion of Treasury policies with Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex), who had asked Humphrey whether he thought a lowering of reserve requirements was needed. Such action, by cutting the amount of money banks must deposit in the Federal Reserve system, would permit expanded credit through additional loans.

Patman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) both criticized Treasury policies, contending they had raised interest rates in the last two years to "excessive" levels with consequent profit to mortgage lenders and speculators in government bonds.

Humphrey defended the policies, saying the Treasury had only "met the market," rather than leading it higher, in paying higher interest rates on securities issued early in 1953. And an increase in rates on government-backed housing loans approved in May, 1953, he said, had helped stimulate the housing boom of 1953-54.

Replying to Patman's contention that the increase had cost veterans more and profited mortgage lenders, Humphrey said the action made such loans easier to get and "gave veterans and others actual loans with which to build houses, instead of just something meaningless on paper."

Humphrey appeared before the subcommittee as it concluded a two-day hearing on monetary policy and management of the national debt, and their effect on business and employment.

He said the Treasury's policies from the outset under his guidance had been "designed to promote high employment, rising production, and a stable dollar."

Humphrey said that "major tax reductions and comprehensive tax revisions . . . ending of price controls and savings in government spending . . . are helping sustain the economy, increase employment and production."

Pearl Harbor Date Is Commemorated

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7 (AP)—A brisk northeast wind whipped light mist over the hulk of the battleship Arizona today as veteran groups laid wreaths in commemoration of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor 13 years ago.

Dr. Eugene C. Blake, president of the National Council of Churches said in a brief prayer for the dead, "preserve us, whose lives were saved by their sacrifice, from foolishness or other sin which would lead again to conflict or to a sorry repetition of the tragedy we now recall."

A flag was raised and a bugler sounded taps.

Volcano Erupts Without Damage

STROMBOLI, Italy, Dec. 7 (AP)—Stromboli's latest fiery eruption ended today without causing damage or casualties.

For 24 hours, molten lava poured down the sides of this little island's 3,040-foot volcano and into the sea.

A fishing village on the northwest side where 800 islanders live had been temporarily abandoned. The villagers spent a rainy night on the beach, ready to take off in boats.

Debate Scheduled

BONN, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Steering Committee of the Bundestag (lower house) today decided against postponing debate on the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany. The committee said the debate would take place as planned on Dec. 15 and 16.

M'Carthy "Swan Song"?

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis), right, turns toward Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) as he makes what he termed "something of a swan song" as chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee. At the time Mundt was presiding over the hearing. McCarthy then cut loose with a blast at President Eisenhower's views on communism. Shortly afterwards the Wisconsin solon left town for an unknown destination.

Economic Help In Asia Sought To Battle Reds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the Eisenhower administration expects to ask Congress to approve a broad program of economic aid to Asia as a bulwark against Communist expansion.

He made that announcement at a news conference at which he also commented that fear of open war has lessened and that both sides can perhaps give more thought to economic competition.

He mentioned no figures and did not say whether loans or gifts would be involved, but other officials have talked of a program in which loans would play a major part. These also have been expressions of hope that allied nations, such as Britain and France, would bear a substantial part of the burden.

Dulles did say, in response to questions, that it was likely that a program of government aid, to be backed up by simultaneous help from private capital, would be sought when Congress reconvenes in January. He said President Eisenhower has approved this principle.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who is known to believe that any aid program should emphasize loans rather than large gifts of the Marshall Plan kind, told a news conference yesterday that "no program has yet been adopted." He said it was still being studied in several departments.

Dulles said today that only the principle has so far been approved, and details are being worked out.

On other points, Dulles told newsmen:

1. The United States is leaving to the United Nations the question of how to seek freedom for 11 U.S. airmen captured the Korean War, and sentenced by Red China last month to long imprisonment.

2. With Britain and France, the United States will attempt to recpature the days when their ambassadors at Moscow could talk informally with high Soviet officials. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, returning tomorrow to Moscow, has authority to seek improvement in diplomatic relations with the Soviet government.

3. The political overthrow of Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida would have no particular effect on U.S.-Japanese relations since basically the friendship of the two countries rests on fundamental considerations of mutual welfare which have nothing to do with personalities.

Opened Wrong Door On Speeding Train

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Actor George Dillon opened the wrong door on a speeding London-Brighton train today and half-stepped out into space before fellow-passenger grabbed him. Dillon, who hung out of the roaring train for half a mile before being hauled in, said he thought he was opening the corridor door.

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Churchill government tonight won House of Commons approval for its 1955 domestic program.

Wife Was Right, He Should Have Gone To Work

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 7 (AP)—J. E. Rose, a railroad district passenger agent, usually works a whole day on Saturday even though his office in the Arkansas Gazette building here normally is closed that day.

And his wife, Rose reports, frequently has chided him about the habit with the remark "you think if you didn't go to that office of yours the building would burn down.'

Last Saturday Rose stayed home.

The Gazette building had a serious fire.

Byrd Asks End Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called today for an end to all foreign economic aid and further slashes in government spending in a renewed effort to balance the budget.

Byrd said in a statement he was "very much disappointed" by the announcement from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey yesterday that "we cannot balance the budget for next year."

Humphrey referred at his news conference yesterday to the budget President Eisenhower will send to Congress in January for the year starting next July 1. He gave no deficit figure, but said officials hope to hold it below the three billion dollars for last year. He estimated the current year's deficit at about 4¾ billions.

Byrd, prospective chairman of the Senate Finance Committee in the next Congress, said it is time President Eisenhower fulfilled a campaign promise of a balanced budget.

"The foremost plank in President Eisenhower's campaign," Byrd said, "was the promise of a balanced budget. A reduction of 7 per cent in government spending this year would place our financial affairs on a pay-as-you-go basis without increasing taxes. In the third year of his administration, it is time that he fulfilled his campaign pledge."

Six Moslem Assassins Executed In Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two husky black-garbed executioners today hanged six members of the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood convicted of plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and to overthrow his military regime by killing off scores of army officers.

The sentences, pronounced by a military court Saturday, were carried out at Cairo's military prison despite protests pouring in from many parts of the Moslem world.

The first to die was Mohmoud Abdel Latif, a little tinsmith who fired eight bullets at Nasser in Alexandria Oct. 26 without hitting him.

Mitchell Defends "Union Shop" In Speech To CIO

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today defended the idea of compulsory union membership and condemned state laws which prohibit such requirements in labor contracts.

"I believe that when employers and unions representing a majority of their employes agree on 'union shop' they should have the right to have one," Mitchell said in a speech prepared for the CIO convention.

Under a "union shop" all workers must become union members to keep their jobs. The Taft-Hartley Law permits this but allows individual states to prohibit it. Seventeen states, mostly in the South and West, have such "right-to-work" laws and moves to enact them are underway in other states.

The CIO's reaction appeared to be that while Mitchell's opposition to such laws was warmly welcome, unions preferred repealing the Taft-Hartley sanction and thus killing the state laws at one blow.

CIO President Walter Reuther told reporters "the federal government has overriding responsibility in the field of social and labor legislation" and said he believed the Eisenhower administration has "an obligation to seek a change in the Taft-Hartley Law to accomplish what Secretary Mitchell has said."

The trend of Eisenhower administration recommendations in labor legislation has, until now, been toward encouraging more state, and less federal, control over labor relations problems.

Mitchell's speech included a message from President Eisenhower which said "labor union efforts to help strengthen our general welfare . . . have enriched the lives not only of union members but of millions of Americans."

Attacks Ike For Slacking Against Reds

Denouncement Said "Political War" In The Ranks Of GOP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy publicly assailed President Eisenhower today in what looked like a burn-the-bridges break with the administration.

He accused the President of congratulating senators who hamper "the exposure of communism" and of putting up a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Red Chinese who "are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men."

"I Was Mistaken"

The Wisconsin Republican, who scorned to apologize for conduct for which the Senate condemned him last week, apologized instead today for telling the voters in 1952 that election of Eisenhower would spell a vigorous fight against communism.

"I was mistaken," he said.

The White House, with President Eisenhower's approval, quickly put out figures to show the administration has been tough on communism. It also called attention to Eisenhower's recent remarks that this country must not let itself be goaded into war by Red Chinese acts.

The McCarthy statement, interpreted by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) as open "political war" with the administration, set politicians to figuring the possible effects on the 1956 presidential fight.

Asked if he would join a third party movement, McCarthy said: "I have no interest whatsoever at the present time in a third party. I intend to work in the Republican party."

The qualification "at the present time" was not lost on newsmen.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the McCarthy censure committee, issued a statement saying:

"Sen. McCarthy's attack on the President, Sen. Flanders and myself shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday."

Watkins and Flanders, another key figure in the move to rebuke McCarthy, have received felicitations on their work from the President.

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a statement saying:

"Sen. McCarthy has made a major error. Without attempting to evaluate his fight against communism, I regret to find him in what must be strange company to him, making a personal attack on the President of the United States.

"The record of the Eisenhower administration on the Communist menace both at home and abroad speaks for itself. I do not think it is necessary to remind the people that President Eisenhower was fighting the Communists quite a few years before Sen. McCarthy made his maiden speech on the subject in the Senate."

McCarthy's attack came in the form of a prepared-in-advance statement which he read at a meeting of his investigations subcommittee. It is currently receiving testimony on Communists in defense jobs.

McCarthy, to the applause of some of the spectators in the hearing room, declared:

Condemns Ike's Actions

"I find that the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

Tiny Tots Pour Out Hearts In Many Letters To Santa

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—"Dear Santa Claus:

"Sometimes I am a good boy and bad too, I will be a good boy now.

"Yours truly, Joseph."

And so, once again, they come. Some happy, many sad, all touching to the heart.

Already, the New York post office has received many great bundles of Santa's mail. Four thousand little letters of hope, despair, joy, sorrow.

"Dear Santa:

"Will you please send me something for Christmas as I have no father and my brother is in the Army? We are on relief and my mother doesn't get much money so she can't get me anything for Christmas I will be thankful for anything you send me."

"Kathleen, 10."

Post office workers have learned to expect most everything as the tots annually pour out their hearts—tell, in their own lovable ways, very much in very few words.

"Dear Santa:

"Please bring me a baby doll and a cradle to put her in. For my boy friend Robert could you bring him a cowboy suit? And last of all, for my best friend Patty a goldfish will do."

"Lesly."

There are about as many laughs as tugs at the heartstrings.

Young Thomas of Rockaway Beach, Queens, didn't take any chance on mistakes as to what he wants. He neatly listed everything on a department store order blank.

He also put down the exact price of each item. The total was $174.85.

Reds Broadcast An Alleged "Confession" By Col. Arnold

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Red China today broadcast a long statement attributed to jailed American Air Force Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., and said it "made it clear" he was the commanding officer of a spy-dropping squadron.

The statement, broadcast by Peiping radio and monitored here, closely parallels the evidence it claimed was given by Arnold at the Nov. 23 trial when he was jailed for 10 years and 10 other airmen were sentenced to terms of four to eight years on spy charges.

It was the latest move by the Communists in citing "evidence" against the airmen which has poured from Peiping radio almost daily since the trial.

In broadcasting the statement, Peiping made no mention of the American protest which was handed to the United Nations today.

At the same time, the Communists broadcast what they called "eyewitness accounts" of the capture of the airmen Jan. 13, 1953.

Arnold, whose hometown is Silver Spring, Md., piloted a B29 four-engine bomber which, the Air Force says, was shot down over North Korea during bombing mission. The Chinese claimed the bomber was over Manchuria when it was shot down.

"A statement made by John Knox Arnold Jr. made it clear that the United States 581st Air Supply and Communications Wing is a special operations wing exclusively serving the Central Intelligence Agency," the broadcast said.

"The statement, written and signed by Arnold, is now on display in the exhibition of the equipment found on the convicted United States spies which opened in Peiping yesterday."

Administration Says 1955 Dollar To Gain More Value

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The year 1955 should please almost everybody, if administration economists are right. They say prices are due to go down and profits up.

Giving their appraisal of the economic outlook in interviews, they forecast a slow but fairly steady downtrend of retail prices during much if not all of the coming year.

They predicted that the consumer may find that his income dollar has gained 2 to 2½ cents in buying power a year from now.

Nevertheless businessmen can expect a moderate rise in profits, reversing the 1954 trend of lowered corporation earnings, said officials in close touch with business conditions.

In fact, almost everyone except the farmer seems to be a potential gainer in 1955. Farm prices will decline slightly, the Agriculture Department has predicted officially, but farmers' costs are expected to drop also. So the Department thinks the farmer's real income should be well sustained.

Some major unions, sharing the official view that living costs will come down, are scrapping the escalator clauses in their wage contracts, to avoid losing a portion of the pay boosts that came along automatically when prices were inflating.

The 15 non operating railroad brotherhoods, representing about 825,000 workers, yesterday headed off a 1-cent hourly wage cut due on January 1 because of the autumn fall price dip.

The brotherhoods reached agreement with major railroads to abolish the escalator clause entirely. The roads agreed, at the same time, that 13 cents of hourly wage gained since 1951 by a succession of living-cost increases would become part of the regular hourly pay scale. The operating rail unions, with 400,000 members, already had eliminated escalation.

Japan Expected To Announce Minister Today

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 8 (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, who once fell afoul of occupation authorities but insists he is pro-American, emerged today as the likely successor to the resigned prime minister, Shigeru Yoshida.

A coalition of Conservatives and Socialists in the Diet (parliament) is expected to vote tomorrow or Friday. It is almost certain Hatoyama will be named prime minister, at least for the present.

The change-over will not affect such policies as the U.S. base agreement, but Hatoyama wants trade and diplomatic relations with Communist lands. Hatoyama is, however, an avowed anti-Communist.

Yoshida yesterday turned in the resignation of his Cabinet, which becomes effective when a new prime minister is elected, under pressure of the coalition. Opponents denounced him as dictatorial and reactionary.

Starting with strong backing of U.S. occupation authorities, Yoshida had guided Japan through seven tumultuous years of recovery, the last six consecutively.

He quit a few hours before the Democrats (conservative) and the left and right wing Socialists had scheduled a no-confidence vote. Together, they had the votes.

Yoshida's Liberals (also conservative) persuaded him to reverse his stand for dissolving the Diet and calling for new elections, which none of the Conservatives wanted. They feared a surge of Socialist strength in any new elections.

The Socialists, who want to junk Japan's pro-Western policies and take a neutral role in the cold war, were willing to support Hatoyama but insisted the new cabinet be just a caretaker regime until elections are held.

Hatoyama said he would consider sentiment for a new election.

The Liberals were expected to name Deputy Prime Minister Taketora Ogata as a candidate to oppose Hatoyama for the prime ministership.

McCarthy Leaves, Destination Unknown

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy was reported late today to have left town.

Mrs. Mary Driscoll, McCarthy's secretary, told a reporter the senator probably would be gone for a week or 10 days and that she did not know where he could be reached.

A woman who identified herself as a maid at McCarthy's residence said the senator and his wife had left her a note saying they had left town but not saying where they were going.

Jane Wyman Gets Divorce From Composer

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—Actress Jane Wyman was granted a divorce today from bandleader-composer Fred Karger.

Miss Wyman, charging mental cruelty, said Karger had an "uncontrollable temper" and threw furniture and clothing when angry.

They have no children and no community property. Miss Wyman, 40, has two children by previous marriage to Ronald Reagan. Her first husband was Myron Futterman, New Orleans manufacturer.

Main Line Tracks At Paoli Reopened

PAOLI, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—All four tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line were reopened tonight for the first time since two freight trains were derailed eight miles west of here Sunday.

The two eastbound tracks were cleared this morning with the westbound tracks being opened for slow traffic later in the day. The reopening ended a long detour that had caused delays of up to three hours in passenger service.

A PRR spokesman said the derailment, one of the worst in PRR history, tore up more than 500 feet of all four main east-west tracks. Passenger trains were detoured via Perryville, Md., and Columbia, Pa., on a freight cutoff.

Attacks Ike

Last Sunday the President commended Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a "very splendid job" as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy for his conduct. The Senate condemned, 67-22, McCarthy's conduct on two counts—that he obstructed a Senate committee's work in 1951-52 and insulted fellow senators.

McCarthy's statement obviously surprised his fellow committeemen. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said he didn't know it was coming and Sen. Potter (R-Mich) told reporters "it was as much of a surprise to me as it was to you."

"If he wants to break with the President, that's his business," Potter added.

Ike Receives 70-Foot Christmas Tree For White House

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—For a brief moment today it looked as if a horrible mistake had been made on President Eisenhower's Christmas tree.

The tree, advertised to be 67-feet long and the biggest in captivity, arrived on two flat cars, the gift of Michigan State College to the President.

Everything had been going along fine.

It had been explained how this tree, at 67 feet, would be an easy winner over the mere 65-footer in New York's Rockefeller Center. How tomorrow the telephone company would tote the tree past the White House to the spot where it will stand in the elipse, across the street from the President's back yard.

How on Dec. 17, at 5:17 p.m. the President would punch a button, light the tree and set off a three-week "Pageant of Peace." How the Pageant of Peace would feature choral groups from the embassies, thereby pointing up the brotherhood of man.

How big Christmas seals were placed on the tree by religious leaders in Chicago.

And then, the distressing moment.

A nosey reporter had fetched along a beaten up ruler that bore a legend starting "for delicious corn muffins" and he was using it to measure the tree.

He figured the tree overlapped on to the second car by 18 feet. Adding the 18 feet to a flat car of 40 feet, he came to the conclusion that the tree was only 58 feet tall.

Merciful heavens! Could this be a Santa Claus hornswoggle that extended to the White House itself?

Well, Pageant of Peace dignitaries flustered about until finally someone had the presence of mind to notice the flat car dimensions, clearly painted on the car: 52 feet, 6 inches.

So both Michigan State and "delicious corn muffins" were vindicated, and time could be taken to inspect the three itself.

It's a whopper all right, a balsam fir that grew in the Dunbar experimental forest in Rudyard, Mich. Its branches were pinned down so that it was hard to tell how well it has withstood its travels. But Michigan State has prepared for everything. The second flat car had a neat little pile of spare branches, to be used as balsam falsies for any part that may need padding.

French Deputies Vote Pay Raise For Themselves

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Deputies of the French National Assembly today voted to increase their own salaries. Only the Communists protested.

Raoul Sauer, speaking for the Communists, called the increase "indecent." He said many people in France are living in conditions of extreme hardship.

The hike, he said, would bring the deputies' salaries to slightly more than $600 per month on Jan. 1, 1955, compared with about $500 last June.

The Assembly went ahead and voted the increase, 516-100.

Merciful heavens! Could this be a Santa Claus hornswoggle that extended to the White House itself?

Well, Pageant of Peace dignitaries flustered about until finally someone had the presence of mind to notice the flat car dimensions, clearly painted on the car: 52 feet, 6 inches.

So both Michigan State and "delicious corn muffins" were vindicated, and time could be taken to inspect the three itself.

It's a whopper all right, a balsam fir that grew in the Dunbar experimental forest in Rudyard, Mich. Its branches were pinned down so that it was hard to tell how well it has withstood its travels. But Michigan State has prepared for everything. The second flat car had a neat little pile of spare branches, to be used as balsam falsies for any part that may need padding.

French Deputies Vote Pay Raise For Themselves

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Deputies of the French National Assembly today voted to increase their own salaries. Only the Communists protested.

Raoul Sauer, speaking for the Communists, called the increase "indecent." He said many people in France are living in conditions of extreme hardship.

The hike, he said, would bring the deputies' salaries to slightly more than $600 per month on Jan. 1, 1955, compared with about $500 last June.

The Assembly went ahead and voted the increase, 516-100.

Mother Still Says Her Son Murdered

LA PLATA, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said today the death of 29-year-old Thomas William Connor last August 2 was suicide and the investigationis ended.

But the dead man's mother, Mrs. Thomas E. Connor of Takoma Park, said she has not given up her four-months-old battle to prove her son was murdered.

Mrs. Connor said today she would further urge Gov. McKeldin to intervene.

She said she has already sent the governor a report in which she charges the police investigation into her son's death was inadequate and argued that he was happy and far from despondent right up to the day of his death.

Connor was found hanged in a Waldorf motel.

Home Is Twice Gutted By Fire

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—On Nov. 24, 1953, a new home being built by Mrs. Annabelle Fagan burned to the ground.

Undaunted, she ordered another house built on the site. Last night it, too, caught fire and was virtually destroyed.

Origin of the two fires has not been determined.

Has $83,000 To Give Away

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Circuit Judge Herman M. Moser had $83,000 to give away today.

The money belongs to The Hospital Relief Association of Maryland which hasn't been operating for quarter of a century and wants to dissolve.

Before doing it, it has to dispose of some unexpected money.

While the Association, which was incorporated in 1880, has been idle there were 21 acres of land near Catonsville that still belonged to it. The land was sold at $4,525 an acre last July.

Judge Moser was told by representatives that there was a net amount of $91,437 remaining. The judge authorized payment of $7,500 in fees for sevices.

He is considering a petition to give the rest of the money to another corporation doing similar work as the old Hospital Relief Association. It had once operated a convalescent home and contributed food and clothing to patients in hospitals.

Rest Home Fire Toll Reaches Six

GERMANTOWN, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—The toll of fire dead at the Marylander Rest Home here rose to six today with the deaths of two more aged inmates.

Dr. Elizabeth Hampson, 87, died at 9:30 a. m. at Suburban Hospital in Bethesda of exposure to smoke fumes. Anne Lamborn, 83, a Washington, D. C., school teacher for 40 years, died at 3 a. m. at Washington Sanitorium in nearby Takoma Park.

Both women, patients at the home, were rescued from the blaze which claimed four other lives yesterday. Fifteen others are hospitalized.

Maryland Student Signs Loyalty Oath Under Protest

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—A University of Maryland student today signed, under protest, a loyalty oath required by federal law under the reserve officer training corps program.

Orwin D. Winn, 20, a sophomore, inscribed a note of protest to the document along with his signature, asserting that he was signing under threat of expulsion from the university.

Winn is the son of Orin W. Winn of District Heights, Md.

He said he had never been connected with any of the subversive organizations listed on the form and that he is an anti-Communist.

"But I consider this an infringement of my personal rights as a citizen," he said. "I'm sure the Adamses—John and Sam Adams—Hancock and Tom Payne wouldn't have signed such a thing to prove their loyalty."

Winn signed the document after a conference with university President Wilson H. Elkins, who told him that if he did not sign he could not be a member of the ROTC and that ROTC membership is compulsory in the first two years at the university.

Elkins said Winn told him he was against signing on principle.

"I told him I might be, too, but that I didn't have anything to do with it," Elkins said.

Social Security:

New Program Takes Giant Stride Toward Bringing Entire U. S. Under Its Benefits

EDITORS NOTE — One of the most important pieces of social legislation — and the least understood by those who benefit by it —is the expanded social security program which becomes effective next Jan. 1. The Associated Press has prepared a four-part series explaining coverage under the new law.

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The new social security law takes a giant stride toward bringing the entire U.S. population under a retirement benefit system.

During 1953, under the old law, about 8 of every 10 workers, or 62 million persons, were covered by the federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance (OASI) system.

Starting next Jan. 1, this system will be available to about 10 million more persons. This means they may pay special social security taxes. And after 18 months coverage they may become eligible for retirement benefits for themselves, or death benefits to their survivors, ranging from $30 monthly for an individual to $200 for a family.

The only major groups not covered will be federal civilian employes, members of the armed forces and local policemen and firemen — most of whom have government retirement systems of their own; and self-employed doctors, dentists and lawyers — many of whom argue they never retire anyhow and thus don't want coverage.

The biggest group of newcomers to the OASI system will be farmers — about 3,600,000 farm operators and 2,100,000 farm laborers. They have a lot of special rules all their own.

All the newcomers should get in touch with their nearest social security office to get a social security card, a number, and settle any questions.

Here are the rules for bringing in the 4,300,000 nonfarm workers:

3½ million state and local government employes —

Many state and local governments have their own retirement systems. Under the old law, employes covered by these systems could not come under the federal OASI program. The new law permits them to keep the same state system and also join the federal program, providing a majority of the group votes to do so. Employes whose positions are covered by a local system, but who for some reason are ineligible for local coverage, will be eligible for the federal system without a referendum. Local governments must negotiate agreements with the federal government for federal coverage of local employes.

250,000 religious workers —

The new law extends optional coverage for the first time to about 250,000 ministers and also to members of religious orders who have not taken a vow of poverty. These persons will have two years to file a certificate with the revenue service saying they want to come under the system. Once they are under it, they cannot get out. Even though they are employed by a church or religious group, they will be treated as self-employed persons. Those coming under the system will pay a special social security tax of 3 per cent of their income up to $4,200 a year, when they turn in their regular income tax returns. The church or religious group which employes them will not participate in any way.

250,000 domestic workers—

In the past, domestic servants, maids, cooks, chauffeurs, gardeners, etc., have been covered if they worked at least 24 days for a single employer during the three-month period of a calendar quarter. The new law covers domestic workers if they earn as much as $50 in cash wages from a single employer in a calendar quarter. Each employer who pays $50 or more a quarter to a domestic worker is required to withhold 2 per cent of the worker's wages, add 2 per cent from his own money, and turn over the entire 4 per cent to the government in quarterly returns. Workers do not have to file a return, but they should get a social security card and a number from their nearest social security office. They should show this to their employer and make sure the employer reports their number on the employer's return.

150,000 federal civilian employes—

THIS pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine.

When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflow Drive,* have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

And with the same result in the way you get-up-and-go, with a safety-surge of power for pulling out of a tight spot on the highway.

Words can't describe it. It's a new sensation—something you simply must try for yourself.

There's nothing like it on the 1955 new-car horizon.

Fact is, there's a whale of a lot to see and sample at your Buick dealer's.

There's fresh new styling. There's higher horsepower in every Buick V8 engine. There's a new Airpower carburetor. And beneath it all there's good old-fashioned integrity in every nut, bolt and rivet.

But, this year, don't simply make a visit to the showroom where these trim and thrilling new beauties are on display.

The smart thing to do—if you want to know what's what in new automobiles—is to get behind the wheel of a 1955 Buick and drive it. How about doing that soon?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Every line of every dress added to your wardrobe can help to make that dress yours alone. I've told you how to adapt the eased, elongated lines of the newest popular silhouette to your figure. Today's words on fashion pertain to necklines, to guide your choice in top-interest details.

If you aren't sure what a particular neckline does for — or to — your face, here's how to find out with no trouble at all: Take a length of fabric (a voluminous scarf will serve) and drape it in different positions. Experiment with a deep "V," a squared-across-the-shoulders effect (both at the base of the throat and a few inches below), a bow, a shoulder-spanning cape. In which positions does the drape add greatest interest to your face?

Parts Equal Whole

When it comes to merging any fashion with your face and figure, the adding-up of parts must result in a single, complete whole. Otherwise the summation will be like a still life lacking balance and symmetry in its composition.

You'll find the balance of face and fashion best when you follow these suggestions from my fashion experts:

For the oblong face — Avoid deep "V" necklines and exaggerated shoulders. Choose a high (or shallow) round neckline; a soft bow at the throat; a small collar or scarf.

For the round face — Avoid high, round necks and collars. Wear, instead, deep "V" or low oval necklines, and pointed collars. Keep the necklines uncluttered. Bare your shoulders in evening dress. Let your suit jackets have a low closing point.

Lessen Squareness

For the square face — Avoid the square, shallow neckline, and the shoulder-widening effect of one cut straight across. Soft draping is best. A fold-over neckline with side interest is good; so is a "V" line or deep oval that lessens the squarness of the jaw.

For the triangular face — A tailored neckline, or one that is high and round is usually becoming (but avoid the latter if your neck is short. You can wear straight-across or one-shoulder decolletages for evening.

The size of your collars must depend on your stature, always. The large collar overpowers the short figure, just as a narrow ruff is out of proportion to the tall woman's height.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Radio And Television

Great Drama

The works of Nobel Prize winner William Faulkner seem wonderfully adaptable to television. I have seen two — the first, "Barn Burning" on the last of the "Suspense" programs, a wonderful study in Faulknerian violence which almost compelled you to watch right through to its murderous end.

The other one was "An Error in Chemistry" on "Climax" last Thursday night, and this may have been the greatest television drama I have ever seen. I don't know why, exactly. Faulkner's writing is — well, I can think of no other word — compelling, pulling you along not at all gently from scene to scene, riveting you to the story and almost forcing you to live it with his characters. I don't know how he does this but it is a very great gift.

Faulkner has another talent which might be described as intuitive genius. By this, I mean that his characters act in unexpected ways but somehow these acts, though unexpected, seem — once done — to have been inevitable, to have been the only things the characters could have done under the circumstances.

"An Error in Chemistry" opens — a very fine scene, by the way, both in picture and text — on the midway of a carnival beside the wheel of fortune run by the play's hero, Joel Flint (Edmund O'Brien). As a carny barker, Flint has an overpowering habit of fleecing the country bumpkins. They are not such bumpkins that they are not aware of the fact that they are being fleeced, but he quells any incipient revolt by subjecting them to merciless public ridicule, a lesson in mass psychology that Faulkner must have learned at the source.

Well, sir, into this bear pit — one man against the populace — swims a sceptical Mississippi farmer — this is a small Mississippi town — and his attractive but not overly bright daughter, M'lissa (Marilee Phelps). "That sure is a pretty wheel, papa," she says. "Just a way of stealing a man's money," he says.

And the next thing you know the barker and the girl are off by themselves, kissing.

"I want to marry you," he says. "I'll marry you," she says, "I'll marry you anytime you say."

And, over the violent objections of the farmer-father (Lon Chaney), they get married. In short Faulkner gets at the facts — not only the facts of life but the facts of story — abruptly, without wasting time. There's a primitivism in his people; there's violence even in so normal an act as getting married.

Then later — when the violence gets a little more evident — Flint walks in and says: "Sheriff, it's about my wife — I just killed her." And his explanation for killing her: "Well, she was my wife — and she was close at hand."

There is, of course, more reason for all this than I've indicated here, but the real power of Faulkner is not in the logic of plotting but in his sure conviction — almost arrogance — that this is what would happen with a given set of people under a given set of circumstances. His people have a sort of fateful predetermination in their faces as if they were saying: "Things being as they are and me being me, what else can you expect of me?" and they walk into their destiny, usually a dreadful one, with impassive and resigned faces.

It was an altogether wonderful production and I think very high marks are due to everyone — David Dortort who made the adaptation; Bretaigne Windust, the producer; Elliot Lewis, the associate producer; William H. Brown Jr., the director; and especially Edmond O'Brien who was just about perfect as Joel Flint.

Lessen Squareness

For the square face — Avoid the square, shallow neckline, and the shoulder-widening effect of one cut straight across. Soft draping is best. A fold-over neckline with side interest is good; so is a "V" line or deep oval that lessens the squarness of the jaw.

For the triangular face — A tailored neckline, or one that is high and round is usually becoming (but avoid the latter if your neck is short. You can wear straight-across or one-shoulder decolletages for evening.

The size of your collars must depend on your stature, always. The large collar overpowers the short figure, just as a narrow ruff is out of proportion to the tall woman's height.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Great Drama

The works of Nobel Prize winner William Faulkner seem wonderfully adaptable to television. I have seen two — the first, "Barn Burning" on the last of the "Suspense" programs, a wonderful study in Faulknerian violence which almost compelled you to watch right through to its murderous end.

The other one was "An Error in Chemistry" on "Climax" last Thursday night, and this may have been the greatest television drama I have ever seen. I don't know why, exactly. Faulkner's writing is — well, I can think of no other word — compelling, pulling you along not at all gently from scene to scene, riveting you to the story and almost forcing you to live it with his characters. I don't know how he does this but it is a very great gift.

Faulkner has another talent which might be described as intuitive genius. By this, I mean that his characters act in unexpected ways but somehow these acts, though unexpected, seem — once done — to have been inevitable, to have been the only things the characters could have done under the circumstances.

"An Error in Chemistry" opens — a very fine scene, by the way, both in picture and text — on the midway of a carnival beside the wheel of fortune run by the play's hero, Joel Flint (Edmund O'Brien). As a carny barker, Flint has an overpowering habit of fleecing the country bumpkins. They are not such bumpkins that they are not aware of the fact that they are being fleeced, but he quells any incipient revolt by subjecting them to merciless public ridicule, a lesson in mass psychology that Faulkner must have learned at the source.

Well, sir, into this bear pit — one man against the populace — swims a sceptical Mississippi farmer — this is a small Mississippi town — and his attractive but not overly bright daughter, M'lissa (Marilee Phelps). "That sure is a pretty wheel, papa," she says. "Just a way of stealing a man's money," he says.

And the next thing you know the barker and the girl are off by themselves, kissing.

"I want to marry you," he says. "I'll marry you," she says, "I'll marry you anytime you say."

And, over the violent objections of the farmer-father (Lon Chaney), they get married. In short Faulkner gets at the facts — not only the facts of life but the facts of story — abruptly, without wasting time. There's a primitivism in his people; there's violence even in so normal an act as getting married.

Then later — when the violence gets a little more evident — Flint walks in and says: "Sheriff, it's about my wife — I just killed her." And his explanation for killing her: "Well, she was my wife — and she was close at hand."

There is, of course, more reason for all this than I've indicated here, but the real power of Faulkner is not in the logic of plotting but in his sure conviction — almost arrogance — that this is what would happen with a given set of people under a given set of circumstances. His people have a sort of fateful predetermination in their faces as if they were saying: "Things being as they are and me being me, what else can you expect of me?" and they walk into their destiny, usually a dreadful one, with impassive and resigned faces.

It was an altogether wonderful production and I think very high marks are due to everyone — David Dortort who made the adaptation; Bretaigne Windust, the producer; Elliot Lewis, the associate producer; William H. Brown Jr., the director; and especially Edmond O'Brien who was just about perfect as Joel Flint.

Energy Capital Building Always Will Face Sun

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Dec. 7 (AP)—They're going to build a six-story office building on a turntable here so they can keep it facing the winter sun.

Clockwork in the base of a giant pivot will turn the building as the sun crosses the sky. The east and west faces of the structure will be of translucent brick. Other materials going into it will be of a light, durable type normally used in aircraft manufacture.

The futuristic building will cost 2¼ million dollars. It will be a unit in a 7-¼-million-dollar business and residential development planned by a syndicate of Texas oil men.

The idea, according to one of the oil men—Welborn Foreman of Houston—is to make Grand Junction the "energy capital" of the nation. Grand Junction, a community of about 12,500 residents, is in the midst of vast oil uranium deposits.

The development, to be more or less self-contained, will include an area for the exclusive use of research foundations engaged in atomic or oil studies; a swank hotel and apartment building; homes ranging in price from $10,000 up; a restaurant and cocktail lounge; a community shopping center; a park and swimming pool; and nine-hole golf course and country club.

The project will cover 640 acres and is to be completed by 1960.

The largest emerald, owned by the present Duke of Devonshire, weighs 1384 carats.

Ramey Forfeits Parking Bond

FROSTBURG — A Frostburg motorist forfeited $25 bond Saturday by failing to appear before Trial Magistrate Frederick Crowe on charges of violating a number of parking tickets.

Arthur G. Ramey, Frostburg, was released previously under $50 bond after he refused to answer a summons for ignoring 23 parking tickets. At the request of City Attorney Edward J. Ryan, the bond was reduced to $25.

The case grew out of a drive to clear up the parking situation in Frostburg. The tickets had been issued to Ramey over a period of five months.

County Payroll Rates Checked By Wilkinson

While examining the payroll sheet for county employes at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, an inquiry was made by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson concerning the difference in pay for some of the Roads Department men on various days.

Wilkinson said he noticed that they were paid $1.25 an hour some days and $1.35 on others. Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the men were regularly classified as laborers at $1.25 an hour, but when used as truck drivers were paid at the $1.35 an hour rate.

Wilkinson then called for Mrs. Johanna M. Sills, county auditor, to get him the payroll sheet for the preceding period so he could check the figures. That was where the matter ended, with Wilkinson spending about half an hour perusing the payroll sheets.

Later on Mrs. Sills furnished Wilkinson with the figures on the earnings of Ernest B. Treat, county tax collector for District 1 at the Court House, for the past four years. Wilkinson had asked for the figures at last Friday's session.

Mrs. Sills explained that the totals listed for Treat was the gross income, from which Treat paid the expenses in collecting the tax levy for his district. Wilkinson then asked for figures showing the net income of Treat for the period in question. Mrs. Sills said that would take some time but she would provide them as soon as possible.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. (INS) — If his 50,000,000 viewers go for Jack Webb in "Pete Kelly's Blues" the way they've loved him as a cop in "Dragnet," the very smart Mr. Webb plans to make Pete into a TV series!

This will be the first time a star has switched a screen role over to TV. It's usually the other way 'round.

"I'll admit I have worries if I drop Sergeant Friday and his police friends for the role of a Dixie land jazz band character," Jack told me when I ran into him.

"But still there must be a saturation point on 'Dragnet,' don't you think?" he asked.

"There never was a saturation point on Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes," I reminded him. Whereupon Mr. Webb looked even more worried.

Mitzi Gaynor, who has been honeymooning with Jack Bean in New York, received some very good news. She'll play opposite Bing Crosby in "Anything Goes."

A good part was bound to be handed Mitzi after her performance in "No Business Like Show Business." She's so good that everybody who saw the picture keeps saying Mitzi, Mitzi.

She's leaving for Detroit to visit her father and from there she goes to Minneapolis, then back to New York for the opening of "No Business."

I saw Audrey Totter a few nights ago with her husband, Dr. Lee Fred, and like all new mothers she was carrying a picture of her baby daughter, born earlier this year.

She looks so well that I wasn't surprised when I was told today that Audrey will be starred with George Raft and Edward G. Robinson in "Great Canadian Manhunt," which Sam Bischoff and Dave Diamond are making for United Artists. Audrey plays a gangster's moll who tries to reform.

Hal Kemp, new N.B.C. head, and his very nice wife were welcomed to Hollywood at a large cocktail party in the penthouse at Romanoff's, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wile. The big room was crowded with orchestra leaders, song writers, stars, TV & radio narrators, etc.

One reason the Italian-made "Romeo And Juliet" is so beautiful is because of its authetnic settings. One of these is of San Francesca Del Deserto, home of the monastery of that name.

This monastery is on an island off Venice. Susan Shentall, who plays Juliet, is the first woman to set foot on the island since the monastery was built in 1226. The Vatican granted permission.

The monks watched the filming of "Romeo And Juliet" with great interest, and after the picture was finished obtained permission to see it.

How strange it seems to be writing that Sally Blaine, Loretta Young's pretty sister who is Mrs. Norman Foster in private life, has been signed for a "character" role in "The Great Canadian Manhunt."

Seems only yesterday that Sally was winning Charleston contests at the Cocoanut Grove with her then best beau, Tommy Lee, Jr.

She hasn't made a movie since "Alexander Graham Bell" at 20th in 1938, but I have seen Sally on some TV shows. She looks quite too young and pretty to be playing the part of a French spinster in the "Canadian" story being produced by Sam Bischoff and Dave Diamond.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: stopped by Chasen's after the Kemp party and sitting in the corner were Gloria De Haven and Frank Sinatra. Isn't this a new twosome?

U-I boss man Milt Rackmil was there with Dolores Gray, who wore a tight-fitting bonnet, she said, because her hair hadn't been fixed. On her it was becoming.

That supposed $3,000,000 apiece Bing Crosby and Bob Hope are touted as receiving from a Texas oil deal will barely amount to $250,000. What am I saying — barely?

Henry Fonda, a very tired guy following the long shooting schedule on "Mister Roberts," is taking his wife to Europe Jan. 15 for a three-month rest.

Piper Laurie becomes an aunt in June when her sister, Mrs. Sherry Wade, welcomes a little stranger.

A sprig of holly to the Mary Kaye trio who, during their engagement at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, will appear daily at the military hospitals in the district bringing Christmas cheer to the boys.

Tab Hunter has bought a lot above the Sunset Strip on which he'll build a home — and furnish it with Lori Nelson — maybe?

Mona Freeman is getting around with Bob Moon, producer of the Peter Potter show. But my money says that Bing is still Mona's favorite date.

Joe Cotten injured his arm falling off a merry-go-round —of all things — in a sequence in "Special Delivery" and couldn't work for two days.

Betty Grable, who doesn't look a day over 17 years old, should be billed as part of Harry James act she shows up so often to listen to her lord and master at the Cocoanut Grove.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

New Program

Coverage is extended to some federal employes who are not now covered by retirement systems, chiefly postal field service employes and temporary census workers. Coverage is not extended to the President, congressmen or congressional employes, student employes of federal hospitals, or temporary employes during emergencies such as earthquakes or floods.

100,000 self-employed professional people—

Coverage is extended to architects, engineers, accountants and funeral directors, who like doctors and lawyers have been excluded in the past. As self-employed persons, they will pay their special 3 per cent social security tax along with their regular income tax returns. Their coverage is not optional, so their first returns are due automatically in early 1956.

100,000 U. S. workers in foreign lands—

American citizens who are employes of American firms in foreign countries already are covered. The new law extends this coverage to American citizens who are employes of foreign subsidiaries of American firms, if the American firm agreed.

100,000 home workers—

Persons who work in their homes for others, such as workers who make artificial flowers, generally have been covered as employes if they are paid $50 a quarter and are licensed by state law. The new law extends coverage even if they are not licensed by state law.

50,000 fishing employes—

Crew members on vessels of 10 net tons or less have been excluded in the past. So have fishing industry workers who do not use a boat—such as clam diggers. Coverage is extended to these groups now, which include many lower paid workers.

Next: Social security coverage for farm operators and farm laborers.

Calypsos originally were sung at carnivals in Trinidad. The words, usually impromptu and satirical, were sung to the accompaniment of a guitar.

A tradition in west Texas says that a horned frog can live a hundred years without food or water.

The orchid family, which has several members native to the United States, comprises more than 15,000 species.

New Zealand has more than two and a half cattle for each of its 2,088,000 people. Its sheep outnumber people almost 17½ to one.

Meat Company, Drivers Sign

A new contract affecting the drivers of Swift and Company meat processing plant here and Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union (AFL), signed yesterday provided for an eight-cent an hour increase.

In addition to the eight-cent an hour jump, the union members will receive additional benefits in their hospitalization plan.

According to C. E. Stutzman, Teamsters Union business agent, the contract also calls for four weeks vacation for employes who have 25 or more years of service.

The agreement was made retroactive to October 1, Stutzman added.

Signing the contract for the company were C. W. Whetzell and G. E. Crouch, while Stutzman signed for the union.

Assisting Stutzman in negotiations with the meat processing firm was Charles E. Bramble, Local 453 president.

Stutzman said negotiations are under way with Armour and Company, a local wholesale meat distributor, for a new contract for that firm's drivers.

Police Investigating Burglary Attempt

Police yesterday probed an unsuccessful breaking and entering attempt at the Bedford Street Fish Market, 103 Bedford Street.

Lt. John E. Sherry reported a window in a rear door was broken. However, an inside lock apparently prevented entry.

NEW SS OFFICIAL — Wilmer E. Dunn, of Martinsburg, has assumed his duties as the new field representative for the Cumberland district office of the Social Security Administration. He came here from a similar post in Wheeling. Dunn replaces Donald Hudson, who is employed with the Navy Department in Washington.

Meat Company, Drivers Sign

A new contract affecting the drivers of Swift and Company meat processing plant here and Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union (AFL), signed yesterday provided for an eight-cent an hour increase.

In addition to the eight-cent an hour jump, the union members will receive additional benefits in their hospitalization plan.

According to C. E. Stutzman, Teamsters Union business agent, the contract also calls for four weeks vacation for employes who have 25 or more years of service.

The agreement was made retroactive to October 1, Stutzman added.

Signing the contract for the company were C. W. Whetzell and G. E. Crouch, while Stutzman signed for the union.

Assisting Stutzman in negotiations with the meat processing firm was Charles E. Bramble, Local 453 president.

Stutzman said negotiations are under way with Armour and Company, a local wholesale meat distributor, for a new contract for that firm's drivers.

Man Sought By Pa. Police Nabbed Here

R. E. McCanuel Held In Fraud

A local man, wanted by Pennsylvania authorities in connection with alleged fraud on a hotel, was arrested here yesterday morning on a fugitive warrant issued by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Lodged in the city lockup is R. E. McCanuel, who is an alleged fugitive from justice on the basis of a warrant issued November 30 by Dale N. Hart, alderman of Blair County, Pa.

Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, who nabbed McCanuel yesterday at 11:30 a. m., said he is being charged with fraud on the Colonial Hotel, Altoona, Pa.

McCanuel reportedly left the hotel without paying a bill of $74.60. Van said McCanuel is expected to return voluntarily for prosecution in Pennsylvania and will be turned over to authorities of that state.

The usual procedure is that a prisoner wanted by another state goes to Circuit Court for the purpose of waiving extradition. However, McCanuel is expected to return voluntarily.

City's Traffic Light Plan Rated 'Good' By Engineer

A study of the local system by a traffic light expert Monday resulted in a "good" rating.

The expert, Clayton E. Kennard of Baltimore, product engineer for Crouse-Hinds Company, Syracuse, was asked to come here by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan. Specifically, Kennard was requested to study plans for traffic signals to be placed on the approaches of the new Blue Bridge at Riverside Park.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn, who with Keegan conferred with Kennard, said it has been tentatively decided to use a three-way light at the bridge approaches.

However, Chief Flynn added, no decision will be made until after traffic begins to move and police can see actual problems which must be faced. That way, Flynn said, the city will be certain of purchasing the correct light for the area.

As for the local traffic light system, Flynn said Kennard rates it "pretty good." In looking over the Baltimore Street situation, it was decided no change can be made because of wiring, Flynn added.

A Stronger France Is In The Making

Constitutional changes which have just been voted by the French National Assembly had been gathering dust for years, though most Frenchmen and most deputies knew they were needed. Now they have been adopted by the decisive vote of 412-141, a majority considerably larger than the required two-thirds.

It is true that the bill was a compromise in that certain features of the original measure were eliminated. But the final measure will effect a number of important changes for the better in the French system of government. Several defects that have made for irresponsibility and unresponsiveness have now been largely corrected.

For example, France has suffered from prolonged periods without a government because the constitution requires a majority vote of all members of the assembly to install a new premier. Now a plurality of members voting will be sufficient and the temptation to defeat a candidate by the device of abstention will be greatly reduced.

Another change will make it more likely that when a government falls, the issue will be taken to the country. Outgoing cabinets will stay in office until a new government is chosen, whereas in the past the constitution required representation for all parties in the interim regime. Now the Communists will be kept out of such a government and therefore will not have access to state secrets.

Steering committees of the two chambers will no longer be made up of members of all parties in accordance with the number of seats held by each. Thus the Communists can be kept off these bodies and their opportunities to disrupt the proceedings will be reduced. Meanwhile, the fact that members of the two houses will enjoy freedom from arrest only while parliament is in session will act as a damper on Communist enthusiasm.

It can be argued that the French constitution must undergo additional alterations if the French are to have a strong and effective government. But this is a beginning.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Shoot Em, On All Sides!

The mail grows increasingly heavy with volunteer movements designed to kill off opposing sects. It is not only Communists who are to be destroyed but also anti-Communists. Here I hold two circular letters, one is by Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, U.S.A., Retired. He writes from Sherman Oaks, Calif., and he is after the Pope. Gen. Holdridge says:

". . . It should be clear by this time to each of you that McCarthy does not represent himself alone, but that he is merely the front for forces of tremendous potential for the subversion of our government, even to its overthrow by force and violence. I refer to the Vatican, headed by the Pope in Rome, to its hierarchy and blind followers in the United States, and to all of those who have been drawn to the banner of 'McCarthyism.'"

Toward the end of a long diatribe, he states:

". . . The fight has only begun. The United States is still largely a non-Roman Catholic country. The spirit of our Founding Fathers, who left Europe to escape from this very force of violence against human freedom which again raises its head in our country, is still alive in their hearts. They will surely find a means to eliminate this alien power once and for all."

Gen. Holdridge also has issued a copy of a letter he sent to President Eisenhower which states, among other things:

"He (the Pope), and his predecessors before him, have repudiated every freedom written into the Bill of Rights of our Constitution. His very presumption of a monopoly over almighty God—a concept accepted and implemented by his followers—stands as a constant threat to freedom of religion within the United States, as established by our Constitution."

Now let's look at a circular that comes from Bethel, Vt., and is captioned "The Green Mountain Rifleman." The title of the article is "The Jew Schultz Haughtily Tries to Banish Gerald L. K. Smith." The reference is to Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of the American Jewish League Against Communism. The opening paragraph may be enough to show what Manuel and Lucille Miller, "Directors Of Action-Strategy, The National Patrick Henry Organization, Inc.," have to say:

"Rabbi Benjamin Schultz and his friends, having pushed their way up to the side of McCarthy, now demand that Gerald L. K. Smith and his friends should get them hence as unworthy of such august company. Schultz is starting a string of million dollar law suits against everybody who says he ever even spoke to Smith, so unclean does he deem Smith to be. Fulton Lewis also hastens to remind us that he never spoke to Smith either except that time 15 or 20 years ago when he had the misfortune to find himself in the same dining car with Smith. We wonder if Fulton will live long enough to regret his slobbering defense of Anna Rosenberg half as much as he regrets the hello he accidentally let slip out to Gerald L. K. Smith."

Perhaps I should change my mind and give you another, the last paragraph of this stuff:

"To those who wail that factionalism is rearing its ugly head, we reply that the Schultz Jews started this so the Smith nationalist will finish it. If Schultz can't endure being in the same crowd with Smith, let Schultz himself leave, but he had better hurry or there will be footprints on the back of his rabbinical robe. Us right wingers may be rough cattle but we aren't going to wear the Jewish Circle-U brand."

It is often suggested that letters and circulars of this nature represent the lunatic fringe of our society. It is said that one should not dignify their loathings with public notice. These examples are two of hun- represent a continuingly dangerous development in our society. I should estimate that I receive more anti-Catholic than anti-Semitic literature and that the anti-Catholic material is printed on better paper, costs more to circulate and gives the impression of coming from more responsible sources. It is therefore more likely to be read.

These campaigns of hate seize on anti-communism as a vehicle, but they are never anti-Communist in fact, because the writers rarely indicate a knowledge of what Marxism is and why it should be opposed. They usually are against it for the wrong reasons.

Action By Red China Is "Act Of War" Against U. N.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Is the United States accepting the Korean armistice agreement as a peace treaty, or is there now a state of war between Red China and this country?

If the Korean armistice has been broken by the Communists in holding captive American prisoners who were to have been released, has not Red China committed an "act of war"?

Is President Eisenhower repudiating the legal argument made by President Truman that it isn't necessary to ask the authorization of Congress in order to apply a naval blockade or the use of armed forces to carry out an obligation undertaken by this country through the United Nations charter?

These questions arise out of a careful examination of the authorized transcript of the press conference held by President Eisenhower last week at which he said a blockade would be an "act of war" and that he would go to Congress to ask for authorization if any such step has to be taken at all.

Proposals Failed

Now it so happens that the charter of the United Nations specifically says in Article 42 that the U. N. "may take such action by air, sea or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security," and then adds:

"Such action may include demonstrations, blockade, and other operations by air, sea or land forces of members of the United Nations."

When these provisions of the charter were before Congress to be ratified in 1945, a question arose as to whether the war powers of the Congress were being ignored. Amendments were proposed by the late Senator Taft of Ohio, and by Senator Wheeler of Montana, to require congressional authorization for the use of the armed forces of the United States whenever the contingency arose. But such proposals were rejected by the Senate. Likewise, Senator Watkins of Utah, by an amendment, endeavored to require the President to go to Congress before exercising certain powers under the North Atlantic Treaty. This, too, failed.

A Senate document presenting a lengthy opinion attributed to "the executive departments" in February 1951 and issued by Senator Connally, who was at that time chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, makes the flat statement that the President is under no obligation to get authorization from Congress before imposing a blockade or using the armed forces to carry out either U. N. or NATO obligations.

Indeed, the document quotes at length from a formal report made by both the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs which discussed Article 42 of the U. N. charter and then in identical language said:

"Preventive or enforcement action by these forces upon the order of the Security Council would not be an act of war but would be international action for the preservation of the peace and for the purpose of preventing war. Consequently the provisions of the charter do not affect the exclusive power of Congress to declare war."

Act Of War Against U. N.

It was this reasoning which the Department of State used in defending President Truman's decision to join with other United Nations forces in repelling aggression in Korea without asking authorization before or afterward from Congress.

So, when Mr. Eisenhower says to the nation that he cannot impose a blockade without going to Congress because itwould be an "act of war," it means either that he has never been familiarized with the background of the American ratification of the U. N. charter and the interpretation placed on it by committees of Congress, or else he means to reverse the Truman policy and take up with Congress beforehand any military or naval action hereafter required through the U. N. charter or through the North Atlantic Treaty provisions.

In any event the President has justified Senator Knowland's discussion of the subject by publicly declaring it to be a subject for congressional action. But at the same time Mr. Eisenhower has added some confusion to the problem because, if he thinks the Korean armistice is a peace treaty, then it is the first time in history that an armistice has been accepted as a document that does what only a peace treaty can do — namely, end a state of war. For the very breaking of the armistice by Red China is an act of war against the United Nations. It remains to be seen whether the 16 nations which fought in Korea will be content to let the matter rest with a resolution of "condemnation."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We have been studying this co-existence business. Like nursery building blocks it can spell something accidently.

It means living side by side which is not the fat question. The giant quiz is how many on a side?

We repeat that the lamb has waited many a weary semester for the lion to drop that other shoe. Ever since U. N. started the smaller nations have been ceiling-spotters.

Foster Dulles has been room clerk at the co-existence zoo. Moscow has been his busiest customer for the no sale pop-up.

The Russian diplomats are a sturdy race who repair watches on an anvil.

They have gummed the details in U. N. and thrown up roadblocks in lovers' lane.

All the time they have been giving us lip service with the brr-rrr-rr-aack for an encore. Thirty years ago this writer described the orchestrated opinion as the Bronx cheer. Our recent apology to Borough President Lyons is only topped by our abject retraction to Bridgeport. Our defense is you have to crack an egg to look the yolk in the eye.

All Moscow suggestions are slanted to low-bridge the Paris synchronized nodding for re-armament of Western Germany. An army of 500,000 Germans will crowd our end of the see-saw. There are certain crises in which we stand for tenement conditions.

The Kremlin side-slips with a co-existional proposition. It's an all-European peace plaster to be cooked up in a Moscow conference. Never did a spite fence have so many peep-holes.

Senator Knowland gazes with jaundiced bi-focals on the mirage of co-existence. He says you only need one hoss for a difference of opinion if it's Trojan.

The last successful exposition of peaceful co-existence earned Barnum and the Siamese twins a lot of moola.

First Child Often Weighs Less Than Subsequent Ones

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Firstborn infants usually weigh less than subsequent children. Most babies lose weight during the first three or four days; some up to 10 per cent. But the majority begin to add flesh by the fifth day and are back to birth weight by the end of two weeks.

Newborns of average poundage are more likely to survive than are babies who are too small or too large. This was revealed in a unique study on 840,000 birth records of infants born in different parts of the country and of the death certificates of those who died within the first four weeks of life. The data were analyzed and reported by Mr. Sam Shapiro of the National Office of Vital Statistics.

The majority of infants (82.9 per cent) came into the world weighing between 5 pounds 5 ounces and 8 pounds 12 ounces and over one-third of this group weighed between 6 pounds 8 ounces and 7 pounds 8 ounces. Only 7.4 per cent weighed less than five pounds 8 ounces and only .2 per cent weighed 10 pounds or more. Babies of more than 11 and less than 2 pounds were most unusual.

Of the infants in this survey, 16,741 died during the first four weeks of life; 10,706 of whom were 5 pounds 8 ounces or less. The smaller the child, the greater the hazard; seven out of eight weighing less than 2 pounds 1¼ ounces failed to survive. The most favorable birth weights appeared to be between 6 pounds 8 ounces and 9 pounds. Above this figure, the death rate increased noticeably.

A number of twins and triplets were included in the survey. These tykes usually are smaller than single children and here too weight was the important factor. One-half were 5 pounds 8 ounces or less and one-tenth were less than 3 pounds 8 ounces at birth. Mortality among boys was greater than in girls at virtually all weight levels.

The size of the baby is determined by a number of factors varying from heredity to the diet and the health of the expectant mother. It is well known that a high percentage of abnormally large babies are delivered by diabetic mothers.

Dr. Morton D. Kritzer of Los Angeles investigated the problem from another angle. He contacted a group of women who had given birth to infants weighing 10 pounds or more.

None presented the symptoms or findings usually associated with diabetes but when the blood was tested, 31 per cent showed a diabetic pattern. Dr. Kritzer concluded that all mothers of abnormally large babies should be checked periodically for diabetes.

TOMORROW: Backache of mechanical origin.

WOMEN DIFFER

Mrs. D. P. writes: Why do some women carry large and some carry small?

REPLY

A variety of factors is responsible. The size of the parents and the tone of the abdominal muscles are most important. In some instances, the baby is of normal size but the mother has excessive fluid in her uterus.

DAMP HAIR

Mrs. E. C. writes: Is it harmful to put a child to bed when the hair is still wet after a shampoo?

REPLY

No, provided the child is not sleeping in a draft.

FEMALES ONLY

T. R. writes: Does the prefix, hystero, pertain to any type of surgery performed on a male?

REPLY

No, as the prefix refers to the uterus. Hysteria is so-named because at one time it was thought that this condition was of uterine causation.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Leland Hayward, now one of the country's leading producers (South Pacific, Mr. Roberts, etc.), made his debut out Hollywood way as an agent — and a mighty shrewd one, too. Last year he was bent on acquiring a certain property for a screen play, but objected vigorously to the price tag of $75,000 agent Irving Lazar had put on it. "Irving," implored Hayward, "who taught you to be such a brazen robber anyway?" Lazar answered, quite truthfully, "You did!"

The major music critics usually turn thumbs down on Liberace, and the ones in New York proved no exception when the Candelabra Kid performed at Madison Square Garden. Despite their hoots, the huge arena was packed to the rafters with palpitating admirers.

The next day Liberace wired each and every derogatory critic, "Your cruel remarks made me so unhappy I cried all the way to the bank!"

Sen. Morse Digs Nixon On Campaign; Humphrey Faces Backstage Battles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Ever since the election, when it became apparent that Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse would cast the deciding vote in the Senate, both Republican and Democratic leaders have been super-sweet to the independent senator they used to cold-shoulder.

For example, Vice President Richard Nixon sidled up to Morse the other day and grabbed his hand.

"Wayne, I want to congratulate you on the high calibre campaign you conducted," boomed the vice president, referring to the past election campaign.

"Dick," retorted Morse evenly, "I wish I could say the same for you."

Cabinet Feud

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the man closest to Eisenhower, is embroiled in three backstage battles with cabinet colleagues. Their outcome will affect the economy of the United States for months to come. They might also lead to the exit of George Humphrey from official life.

Battle No. 1—Is with Secretary of State Dulles, et al, over a huge new Marshall Plan for Asia. Humphrey is opposed on the ground that it will unbalance the budget. So far Dulles has won out.

Battle No. 2—Is with Secretary of Agriculture Benson over the disposal of crop surpluses. Humphrey does not want them dumped abroad in any quantity on the argument that such dumping becomes an indirect crop support.

Battle No. 3—Is over loans to Latin America. Here the President's brother Milton is on the other side of the fence—though not actively embroiled in the dispute.

Much more involved are Senators Capehart of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Congressman Fulton of Pennsylvania, who, though Republicans, believe the GOP secretary of the treasury is too tight-fisted in loaning money to Latin America. They argue that the best way to prevent communism is to help develop our good neighbors.

Dulles' Footwork

It was while Humphrey was in Rio de Janeiro fighting battle No. 3 that he just about lost battle No. 1. This is with John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold Stassen over a Marshall Plan to Asia.

Dulles, who was supposed to go to the Rio conference, decided not to go, appointed Humphrey as chief U.S. delegate—though not for the purpose of working behind Humphrey's back. While Humphrey was gone, however, he did get busy with some fast footwork which lined up part of the cabinet for the Asiatic Marshall Plan.

Meeting three times with Eisenhower, Dulles got his okay. Charley Wilson also concurred—provided the Marshall Plan went hand in hand with a bigger Army-Navy-Air Force. Eisenhower agreed.

Dulles then called a secret meeting of newsmen at a downtown hotel and leaked the idea that current American economic policies with Asia were not good; that to remedy this Eisenhower had agreed to back his aid plan even if it meant unbalancing the budget.

Stassen, who was already sold on the idea, quickly called newsmen to a similar confidential luncheon. Charley Wilson did likewise.

So when Humphrey got back from Rio it was too late. He could have had a personal showdown with Ike and threatened his resignation, but Humphrey doesn't believe in operating that way.

This means that the Defense Department, instead of cutting back on spending, will ask Congress for $2,000,000,000 more. It also means that Dulles and Stassen will launch a giant development program in Asia which may last up to 20 years.

As a result, business in the U.S.A. should be good, though it will be inflationary, with an unbalanced budget—just as under the Democrats—which was why Humphrey was against it.

NOTE—In his difference with Secretary Benson, Humphrey argues that Benson should limit the amount of surplus food the U.S.A. dumps abroad to $400,000,000. Benson wants to send all he can. Humphrey claims that surplus-food disposal might turn into price supports under another name, and that this stimulation of the market would encourage overproduction.

Handmaid Of the Lord

If Senator Welker of Idaho is going to use the Bible in battling for Senator McCarthy, he will have to get up early in the morning to better devout Mormon Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah.

Interrogating Senator Bennett regarding his amendment to censure Joe for calling the Watkins Committee unwitting handmaidens of communism, Walker challenged:

"The other day the Senator referred to 'handmaiden' as a vulgar expression."

"No," countered Bennett.

"Yes, the senator did," insisted Welker, "though he may have stricken it out of the record. I shall check the record."

"I am sorry," corrected Bennett. "I said the definition was that 'handmaid' or handmaiden' was a servant of low degree. It does not seem to me that that imputes vulgarity."

The Senator from Idaho went off on another tack. "Now I quote to the senator the words of Holy Scripture, and I am sure that he knows more about that than I do because he is a devout Christian man, not only in his own faith but in all faiths: 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord.'

"That was the answer of the mother of Christ to the angel Gabriel, who brought her the message that she was to become the mother of Christ," concluded Welker triumphantly.

"I am sure," snapped back the senator from Utah, "that the person who said that felt that she was a person of low degree compared to Him from Whom the message came."

Tough Assignment

By Bob Considine

CLEVELAND—It's hard to stay impartial in a murder trial. You get to hate the defendant or like him or feel sorry for him. You are impressed with this or that lawyer, or get a story from one and feel vaguely grateful. You must constantly remind yourself that you strive for and achieve that zenith of impartiality which "Bugs" Baer ascribed to the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

"He even parts his beard in the middle," "Bugs" wrote.

The Sheppard murder trial is one of extreme intimacy. The spectators in Judge Blythin's legal Turkish bath are confined to 50 reporters and a handful of relatives of the deceased and of the defendant.

If you are a buff of this case you know that the relatives are as much at war as are the rival counsel. Indeed, probably more so. The rival counsel will probably sing in an octet together in the next minstrel show put on by the local lawyers guild. The relatives of Sam and the relatives of Marilyn never plan to speak again, regardless of the verdict handed down in this case.

When Dr. Steve Sheppard was on the stand, Marilyn's aunts and step-mother would gasp at some of his replies to questions submitted by young Tom Parrino, the assistant prosecutor who seems certain to ascend the local political ladder as a result of his keen work in this trial.

The ladies would gasp, or exchange notes, or sniff. Something the doctor had said had deeply annoyed or distressed or angered them. And you felt they might stand up in court and shout out a denial. But they remained in their seats.

And now and then they would whisper to a reporter that this or that just was not true.

Dr. Steve, on the other hand, responds in kind. He will not speak to Marilyn's lady relatives when he enters court each day and takes his place either in the pew ahead of them or in that very bench. In time, as the long hours tick away, Dr. Steve figuratively rests a chin on your shoulder and interprets this or that for you. Or wants to see your notes.

It is not an easy assignment for one charged with objectivity. Circumstances militate against a just appraisal of the fact of the Sheppard case more so than in any trial of my memory. Verily, the reporter here finds himself sitting on the laps of the principals, in an air made heavy by their understandably biased breaths.

Reporters covering a case of this prominence generally are a gypsy lot, ready to pitch a tent in the lea of the likeliest barn. There's always a hangout where the clan gathers during rest periods or at night, when the last tired word is filed.

Favorite luncheon place of the mob on hand is the Express Grille, a quick-and-hot patronized chiefly by printers and pressmen from nearby publishing firms. It has a fast bar, good food and a beautiful waitress named Janice. There is a deer-head sticking from one wall, and hardly a day passes without someone's lighting a cirgaret and sticking it in the beastie's mouth. The deer has begun to look undressed without a dangling butt.

A young lady who makes Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell resemble choir-boys, in silhouette, seems to be in charge of the juke box at the Express. She apparently has some running vendetta with newspapermen. Let a fellow use the wall phone to call his office and he's hardly finished saying, "Well, Boss, here I am pounding away at the old court house as usual," and this babe will stuff nickles into the juke slots that play the loudest and rowdiest music ever committed.

Then there is the Cleveland nightlife. But that can wait. There is little else for it to do.

A Stronger France Is In The Making

Constitutional changes which have just been voted by the French National Assembly had been gathering dust for years, though most Frenchmen and most deputies knew they were needed. Now they have been adopted by the decisive vote of 412-141, a majority considerably larger than the required two-thirds.

It is true that the bill was a compromise in that certain features of the original measure were eliminated. But the final measure will effect a number of important changes for the better in the French system of government. Several defects that have made for irresponsibility and unresponsiveness have now been largely corrected.

For example, France has suffered from prolonged periods without a government because the constitution requires a majority vote of all members of the assembly to install a new premier. Now a plurality of members voting will be sufficient and the temptation to defeat a candidate by the device of abstention will be greatly reduced.

Another change will make it more likely that when a government falls, the issue will be taken to the country. Outgoing cabinets will stay in office until a new government is chosen, whereas in the past the constitution required representation for all parties in the interim regime. Now the Communists will be kept out of such a government and therefore will not have access to state secrets.

Steering committees of the two chambers will no longer be made up of members of all parties in accordance with the number of seats held by each. Thus the Communists can be kept off these bodies and their opportunities to disrupt the proceedings will be reduced. Meanwhile, the fact that members of the two houses will enjoy freedom from arrest only while parliament is in session will act as a damper on Communist enthusiasm.

It can be argued that the French constitution must undergo additional alterations if the French are to have a strong and effective government. But this is a beginning.

This means that the Defense Department, instead of cutting back on spending, will ask Congress for $2,000,000,000 more. It also means that Dulles and Stassen will launch a giant development program in Asia which may last up to 20 years.

As a result, business in the U.S.A. should be good, though it will be inflationary, with an unbalanced budget—just as under the Democrats—which was why Humphrey was against it.

NOTE—In his difference with Secretary Benson, Humphrey argues that Benson should limit the amount of surplus food the U.S.A. dumps abroad to $400,000,000. Benson wants to send all he can. Humphrey claims that surplus-food disposal might turn into price supports under another name, and that this stimulation of the market would encourage overproduction.

Handmaid Of the Lord

If Senator Welker of Idaho is going to use the Bible in battling for Senator McCarthy, he will have to get up early in the morning to better devout Mormon Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah.

Interrogating Senator Bennett regarding his amendment to censure Joe for calling the Watkins Committee unwitting handmaidens of communism, Walker challenged:

"The other day the Senator referred to 'handmaiden' as a vulgar expression."

"No," countered Bennett.

"Yes, the senator did," insisted Welker, "though he may have stricken it out of the record. I shall check the record."

"I am sorry," corrected Bennett. "I said the definition was that 'handmaid' or handmaiden' was a servant of low degree. It does not seem to me that that imputes vulgarity."

The Senator from Idaho went off on another tack. "Now I quote to the senator the words of Holy Scripture, and I am sure that he knows more about that than I do because he is a devout Christian man, not only in his own faith but in all faiths: 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord.'

"That was the answer of the mother of Christ to the angel Gabriel, who brought her the message that she was to become the mother of Christ," concluded Welker triumphantly.

"I am sure," snapped back the senator from Utah, "that the person who said that felt that she was a person of low degree compared to Him from Whom the message came."

Action By Red China Is "Act Of War" Against U. N.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Is the United States accepting the Korean armistice agreement as a peace treaty, or is there now a state of war between Red China and this country?

If the Korean armistice has been broken by the Communists in holding captive American prisoners who were to have been released, has not Red China committed an "act of war"?

Is President Eisenhower repudiating the legal argument made by President Truman that it isn't necessary to ask the authorization of Congress in order to apply a naval blockade or the use of armed forces to carry out an obligation undertaken by this country through the United Nations charter?

These questions arise out of a careful examination of the authorized transcript of the press conference held by President Eisenhower last week at which he said a blockade would be an "act of war" and that he would go to Congress to ask for authorization if any such step has to be taken at all.

Proposals Failed

Now it so happens that the charter of the United Nations specifically says in Article 42 that the U. N. "may take such action by air, sea or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security," and then adds:

"Such action may include demonstrations, blockade, and other operations by air, sea or land forces of members of the United Nations."

When these provisions of the charter were before Congress to be ratified in 1945, a question arose as to whether the war powers of the Congress were being ignored. Amendments were proposed by the late Senator Taft of Ohio, and by Senator Wheeler of Montana, to require congressional authorization for the use of the armed forces of the United States whenever the contingency arose. But such proposals were rejected by the Senate. Likewise, Senator Watkins of Utah, by an amendment, endeavored to require the President to go to Congress before exercising certain powers under the North Atlantic Treaty. This, too, failed.

A Senate document presenting a lengthy opinion attributed to "the executive departments" in February 1951 and issued by Senator Connally, who was at that time chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, makes the flat statement that the President is under no obligation to get authorization from Congress before imposing a blockade or using the armed forces to carry out either U. N. or NATO obligations.

Indeed, the document quotes at length from a formal report made by both the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs which discussed Article 42 of the U. N. charter and then in identical language said:

"Preventive or enforcement action by these forces upon the order of the Security Council would not be an act of war but would be international action for the preservation of the peace and for the purpose of preventing war. Consequently the provisions of the charter do not affect the exclusive power of Congress to declare war."

Act Of War Against U. N.

It was this reasoning which the Department of State used in defending President Truman's decision to join with other United Nations forces in repelling aggression in Korea without asking authorization before or afterward from Congress.

So, when Mr. Eisenhower says to the nation that he cannot impose a blockade without going to Congress because itwould be an "act of war," it means either that he has never been familiarized with the background of the American ratification of the U. N. charter and the interpretation placed on it by committees of Congress, or else he means to reverse the Truman policy and take up with Congress beforehand any military or naval action hereafter required through the U. N. charter or through the North Atlantic Treaty provisions.

In any event the President has justified Senator Knowland's discussion of the subject by publicly declaring it to be a subject for congressional action. But at the same time Mr. Eisenhower has added some confusion to the problem because, if he thinks the Korean armistice is a peace treaty, then it is the first time in history that an armistice has been accepted as a document that does what only a peace treaty can do — namely, end a state of war. For the very breaking of the armistice by Red China is an act of war against the United Nations. It remains to be seen whether the 16 nations which fought in Korea will be content to let the matter rest with a resolution of "condemnation."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We have been studying this coexistence business. Like nursery building blocks it can spell something accidently.

It means living side by side which is not the fat question. The giant quiz is how many on a side?

We repeat that the lamb has waited many a weary semester for the lion to drop that other shoe. Ever since U. N. started the smaller nations have been ceiling-spotters.

Foster Dulles has been room clerk at the co-existence zoo. Moscow has been his busiest customer for the no sale pop-up.

The Russian diplomats are a sturdy race who repair watches on an anvil.

They have gummed the details in U. N. and thrown up roadblocks in lovers' lane.

All the time they have been giving us lip service with the brr-rrr-rr-aack for an encore. Thirty years ago this writer described the orchestrated opinion as the Bronx cheer. Our recent apology to Borough President Lyons is only topped by our abject retraction to Bridgeport. Our defense is you have to crack an egg to look the yolk in the eye.

All Moscow suggestions are slanted to low-bridge the Paris synchronized nodding for re-armament of Western Germany. An army of 500,000 Germans will crowd our end of the see-saw. There are certain crises in which we stand for tenement conditions.

The Kremlin side-slips with a co-existional proposition. It's an all-European peace plaster to be cooked up in a Moscow conference. Never did a spite fence have so many peep-holes.

Senator Knowland gazes with jaundiced bi-focals on the mirage of co-existence. He says you only need one hoss for a difference of opinion if it's Trojan.

The last successful exposition of peaceful co-existence earned Barnum and the Siamese twins a lot of moola.

Tough Assignment

By Bob Considine

CLEVELAND—It's hard to stay impartial in a murder trial. You get to hate the defendant or like him or feel sorry for him. You are impressed with this or that lawyer, or get a story from one and feel vaguely grateful. You must constantly remind yourself that you strive for and achieve that zenith of impartiality which "Bugs" Baer ascribed to the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

"He even parts his beard in the middle," "Bugs" wrote.

The Sheppard murder trial is one of extreme intimacy. The spectators in Judge Blythin's legal Turkish bath are confined to 50 reporters and a handful of relatives of the deceased and of the defendant.

If you are a buff of this case you know that the relatives are as much at war as are the rival counsel. Indeed, probably more so. The rival counsel will probably sing in an octet together in the next minstrel show put on by the local lawyers guild. The relatives of Sam and the relatives of Marilyn never plan to speak again, regardless of the verdict handed down in this case.

When Dr. Steve Sheppard was on the stand, Marilyn's aunts and step-mother would gasp at some of his replies to questions submitted by young Tom Parrino, the assistant prosecutor who seems certain to ascend the local political ladder as a result of his keen work in this trial.

The ladies would gasp, or exchange notes, or sniff. Something the doctor had said had deeply annoyed or distressed or angered them. And you felt they might stand up in court and shout out a denial. But they remained in their seats.

And now and then they would whisper to a reporter that this or that just was not true.

Dr. Steve, on the other hand, responds in kind. He will not speak to Marilyn's lady relatives when he enters court each day and takes his place either in the pew ahead of them or in that very bench. In time, as the long hours tick away, Dr. Steve figuratively rests a chin on your shoulder and interprets this or that for you. Or wants to see your notes.

It is not an easy assignment for one charged with objectivity. Circumstances militate against a just appraisal of the fact of the Sheppard case more so than in any trial of my memory. Verily, the reporter here finds himself sitting on the laps of the principals, in an air made heavy by their understandably biased breaths.

Reporters covering a case of this prominence generally are a gypsy lot, ready to pitch a tent in the lea of the likeliest barn. There's always a hangout where the clan gathers during rest periods or at night, when the last tired word is filed.

Favorite luncheon place of the mob on hand is the Express Grille, a quick-and-hot patronized chiefly by printers and pressmen from nearby publishing firms. It has a fast bar, good food and a beautiful waitress named Janice. There is a deer-head sticking from one wall, and hardly a day passes without someone's lighting a cirgaret and sticking it in the beastie's mouth. The deer has begun to look undressed without a dangling butt.

A young lady who makes Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell resemble choir-boys, in silhouette, seems to be in charge of the juke box at the Express. She apparently has some running vendetta with newspapermen. Let a fellow use the wall phone to call his office and he's hardly finished saying, "Well, Boss, here I am pounding away at the old court house as usual," and this babe will stuff nickles into the juke slots that play the loudest and rowdiest music ever committed.

Then there is the Cleveland nightlife. But that can wait. There is little else for it to do.

First Child Often Weighs Less Than Subsequent Ones

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Firstborn infants usually weigh less than subsequent children. Most babies lose weight during the first three or four days; some up to 10 per cent. But the majority begin to add flesh by the fifth day and are back to birth weight by the end of two weeks.

Newborns of average poundage are more likely to survive than are babies who are too small or too large. This was revealed in a unique study on 840,000 birth records of infants born in different parts of the country and of the death certificates of those who died within the first four weeks of life. The data were analyzed and reported by Mr. Sam Shapiro of the National Office of Vital Statistics.

The majority of infants (82.9 per cent) came into the world weighing between 5 pounds 5 ounces and 8 pounds 12 ounces and over one-third of this group weighed between 6 pounds 8 ounces and 7 pounds 8 ounces. Only 7.4 per cent weighed less than five pounds 8 ounces and only .2 per cent weighed 10 pounds or more. Babies of more than 11 and less than 2 pounds were most unusual.

Of the infants in this survey, 16,741 died during the first four weeks of life; 10,706 of whom were 5 pounds 8 ounces or less. The smaller the child, the greater the hazard; seven out of eight weighing less than 2 pounds 1¼ ounces failed to survive. The most favorable birth weights appeared to be between 6 pounds 8 ounces and 9 pounds. Above this figure, the death rate increased noticeably.

A number of twins and triplets were included in the survey. These tykes usually are smaller than single children and here too weight was the important factor. One-half were 5 pounds 8 ounces or less and one-tenth were less than 3 pounds 8 ounces at birth. Mortality among boys was greater than in girls at virtually all weight levels.

The size of the baby is determined by a number of factors varying from heredity to the diet and the health of the expectant mother. It is well known that a high percentage of abnormally large babies are delivered by diabetic mothers.

Dr. Morton D. Kritzer of Los Angeles investigated the problem from another angle. He contacted a group of women who had given birth to infants weighing 10 pounds or more.

None presented the symptoms or findings usually associated with diabetes but when the blood was tested, 31 per cent showed a diabetic pattern. Dr. Kritzer concluded that all mothers of abnormally large babies should be checked periodically for diabetes.

TOMORROW: Backache of mechanical origin.

WOMEN DIFFER

Mrs. D. P. writes: Why do some women carry large and some carry small?

REPLY

A variety of factors is responsible. The size of the parents and the tone of the abdominal muscles are most important. In some instances, the baby is of normal size but the mother has excessive fluid in her uterus.

DAMP HAIR

Mrs. E. C. writes: Is it harmful to put a child to bed when the hair is still wet after a shampoo?

REPLY

No, provided the child is not sleeping in a draft.

FEMALES ONLY

T. R. writes: Does the prefix, hystero, pertain to any type of surgery performed on a male?

REPLY

No, as the prefix refers to the uterus. Hysteria is so-named because at one time it was thought that this condition was of uterine causation.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Last year he was bent on acquiring a certain property for a screen play, but objected vigorously to the price tag of $75,000 agent Irving Lazar had put on it. "Irving," implored Hayward, "who taught you to be such a brazen robber anyway?" Lazar answered, quite truthfully, "You did!"

Board Endorses Woman Driver Of School Bus

Garrett Countians' Protest Is Rejected

OAKLAND—A woman is capable of driving a school bus efficiently and safely, the Garrett County Board of Education ruled unanimously Monday at its meeting here.

The issue at stake was over the competency of Mrs. Alice Dunham Harvey of the Bethlehem section to act as a substitute bus driver for her father-in-law, Claude Harvey, who has a contract for two bus routes.

The matter was brought to light in public letters by Edward J. King and Stanley Roderick of the Deer Park-Loch Lynn section.

Says Petitions Ignored

They claimed that the Board of Education ignored two petitions, one by almost 100 per cent of the parents who have children riding the bus and the other by interested citizens and taxpayers along the route.

King pointed to the winter driving hazards along the route that ascends and descends Backbone Mountain with its dangerous curves and no guardrails on one side.

Roderick said the board had ignored a delegation of 25 persons who appeared before the members asking that Mrs. Harvey be replaced by a competent man driver.

Roderick declared that "I am one of those taxpayers who still believe there are enough competent men who need employment to drive our school buses."

Board Backs Woman

The Board of Education however, does not entertain these feelings about the qualifications of Mrs. Harvey as a driver of a big school bus.

At the meeting Monday, the three members reported that after an extensive investigation, they unanimously gave her a vote of confidence as an efficient driver.

The board also pointed out that despite previous reports the entire route is hard surfaced and not part dirt.

Members of the board are Walter W. Dawson, president, Ross Speicher, vice president, and C. O. Bender.

Westernport May Get Grant To Help Build Filter Plant

Town Officials, Committee Study Situation

WESTERNPORT—A committee appointed by Governor McKeldin is expected to recommend assistance to the town of Westernport amounting to half the cost of a proposed new filtration plant.

The recommendation is anticipated when the General Assembly convenes in January.

The committee was named to study Westernport's grievances concerning damage to the water supply and system as a result of construction of the Savage River Dam.

Tells Of Bond Plans

Mayor Okey Michael and Westernport commissioners outlined plans for a possible bond issue to Sen. Robert B. Kimble and the Allegany County Delegation.

The first part of the issue would be used to liquidate an approximately $100,000 remaining of a bond issue due in 1957.

The second part would finance a filtration plant and other water works.

Michael said yesterday the town had received one estimate on the filtration plant from its engineer. This was for $110,000 and does not include engineering costs or acquisition of property, he added.

Claim Water Colored

The new filtration plant would take organic matter and discoloration from the town's water supply. That has been the main complaint. Westernport officials say decaying vegetation in the river basin behind the dam has discolored water and made it unfit for domestic use.

Decision to recommend an appropriation was reportedly reached by the committee at a recent meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Three other Westernport complaints were registered and considered by the committee at the meeting.

The town objected to general use of boats on the lake created by the Savage River Dam and contended this would lead to further contamination. The upper Potomac River Commission which controls the dam agreed to regulate all boating on the lake, it was reported.

Westernport also claimed it should be reimbursed several thousand dollars for damage to its pipe lines caused by construction of the new dam. The commission said it would investigate and reimburse the town if responsible for the alleged damages.

It was further charged that the commission had not lived up to its agreement to operate pumps to supply Westernport with water when the level of the impounded supply was so low that gravity flow was inadequate. The commission reportedly replied that pumps are adequately cared for and will operate if and when conditions require.

Board Endorses Woman Driver Of School Bus

Garrett Countians' Protest Is Rejected

OAKLAND—A woman is capable of driving a school bus efficiently and safely, the Garrett County Board of Education ruled unanimously Monday at its meeting here.

The issue at stake was over the competency of Mrs. Alice Dunham Harvey of the Bethlehem section to act as a substitute bus driver for her father-in-law, Claude Harvey, who has a contract for two bus routes.

The matter was brought to light in public letters by Edward J. King and Stanley Roderick of the Deer Park-Loch Lynn section.

Says Petitions Ignored

They claimed that the Board of Education ignored two petitions, one by almost 100 per cent of the parents who have children riding the bus and the other by interested citizens and taxpayers along the route.

King pointed to the winter driving hazards along the route that ascends and descends Backbone Mountain with its dangerous curves and no guardrails on one side.

Roderick said the board had ignored a delegation of 25 persons who appeared before the members asking that Mrs. Harvey be replaced by a competent man driver.

Roderick declared that "I am one of those taxpayers who still believe there are enough competent men who need employment to drive our school buses."

Board Backs Woman

The Board of Education however, does not entertain these feelings about the qualifications of Mrs. Harvey as a driver of a big school bus.

At the meeting Monday, the three members reported that after an extensive investigation, they unanimously gave her a vote of confidence as an efficient driver.

The board also pointed out that despite previous reports the entire route is hard surfaced and not part dirt.

Members of the board are Walter W. Dawson, president, Ross Speicher, vice president, and C. O. Bender.

Westernport May Get Grant To Help Build Filter Plant

Town Officials, Committee Study Situation

WESTERNPORT—A committee appointed by Governor McKeldin is expected to recommend assistance to the town of Westernport amounting to half the cost of a proposed new filtration plant.

The recommendation is anticipated when the General Assembly convenes in January.

The committee was named to study Westernport's grievances concerning damage to the water supply and system as a result of construction of the Savage River Dam.

Tells Of Bond Plans

Mayor Okey Michael and Westernport commissioners outlined plans for a possible bond issue to Sen. Robert B. Kimble and the Allegany County Delegation.

The first part of the issue would be used to liquidate an approximately $100,000 remaining of a bond issue due in 1957.

The second part would finance a filtration plant and other water works.

Michael said yesterday the town had received one estimate on the filtration plant from its engineer. This was for $110,000 and does not include engineering costs or acquisition of property, he added.

Claim Water Colored

The new filtration plant would take organic matter and discoloration from the town's water supply. That has been the main complaint. Westernport officials say decaying vegetation in the river basin behind the dam has discolored water and made it unfit for domestic use.

Decision to recommend an appropriation was reportedly reached by the committee at a recent meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Three other Westernport complaints were registered and considered by the committee at the meeting.

The town objected to general use of boats on the lake created by the Savage River Dam and contended this would lead to further contamination. The upper Potomac River Commission which controls the dam agreed to regulate all boating on the lake, it was reported.

Westernport also claimed it should be reimbursed several thousand dollars for damage to its pipe lines caused by construction of the new dam. The commission said it would investigate and reimburse the town if responsible for the alleged damages.

It was further charged that the commission had not lived up to its agreement to operate pumps to supply Westernport with water when the level of the impounded supply was so low that gravity flow was inadequate. The commission reportedly replied that pumps are adequately cared for and will operate if and when conditions require.

Teter Beer License Suspended 10 Days

The beer license of Ressie L. Teter, who operates a tavern at 143 North Centre Street, was ordered suspended for 10 days starting Friday by the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

Suspension of the permit resulted from the licensee's having been convicted October 18 in Trial Magistrates' Court of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and fined $200.

The board's opinion, signed by Walter C. Capper, chairman, and Stanley O. Hamilton and James E. Kenny, board members, follows:

"It appears that the youth who had purchased the beer had been with several other men drinking beer in Ridgeley. These men visited the South End Republican Club in Cumberland on October 18, and the said minor was charged in Police Court with purchasing beer under the age of 21 but he was acquitted in Police Court by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick. In this case, the same minor, with the same group of men, visited the place of the defendant, Ressie L. Teter, where he was also accused of purchasing beer under the age of 21, and was convicted of same.

"Section 66 of the Alcoholic Beverages Laws requires the board to suspend or revoke a license in the case of any conviction of the liquor law. We do not believe revocation is required by the fact in this case and we think the suspension should be for a limited time only. We will, therefore, pass an order suspending the license of Ressie L. Teter for a period of ten days, from December 10, to December 19, inclusive, and said defendant shall surrender his license to the board, to be returned to him at the end of said suspension."

County Offered Blue Bridge

If the Allegany County Board of Commissioners is interested in acquiring the Blue Bridge across the Potomac River it may do so by entering into an agreement with the City of Cumberland.

Mayor Roy W. Eves in a letter to the board yesterday said the city, by agreement with the State Roads Commission and federal government, obtains possession of the structure when the new bridge under construction is ready for use.

Mayor Eves said that if the county wants the Blue Bridge for use on some stream within the county he would like an early answer as he would want to take up the matter with the City Council.

Under the agreement, the city must either accept the bridge or abandon it to the federal government. In the event the city decides to accept the bridge the structure must be torn down within 90 days.

The county commissioners referred the matter to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, and Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, for an early report on whether or not to accept the structure.

Some doubt was expressed whether the cost of dismantling the bridge and then erecting it across a county stream would prove reasonable.

Three Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Three wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of Jacob L. Kaplon, Frostburg, who died September 24 named his son, Donald A. Kaplon, 73 Ormand Street, Frostburg, as executor. The son and a daughter of the deceased, Phyllis Marie Kaplon, were named beneficiary.

The will of Carl A. Sanders, this city, who died November 15, named his son, Carl A. Sanders Jr., of Arlington, Va., as executor. The widow, Mrs. Minnie E. Sanders, was named principal beneficiary. He was secretary-treasurer of the LaVale Water Company.

The will of Carl A. Sanders, this of Lonaconing, who died November 25 named James Park, Lonaconing, as executor. Beneficiaries were three nieces, Mildred Sloan, Emma G. Sloan and Helen Bradley White.

Pea Vine Road Widening Is Supported

David Watson appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to request that the Pea Vine Run Road be widened and improved.

Watson said all except one property owner has signed rights-of-way for the necessary land to be used in improving the road. Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson inquired if that part of the adjacent property owned by the one man holding out could not be condemned.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the State Roads Commission has funds for such court procedure. He contrasted this with the county's policy of not entering condemnation suits. Lemmert also said the funds for such court action are not available.

There is only a 400-foot section which is needed for the proposed project, according to Watson. He said school buses and other vehicles have difficulty on the narrow road. The commissioners told Watson to again try to obtain the final right-of-way so that the matter could be considered later.

The city of Chicago plays host to some 12 million visitors a year.

Majors Oppose Radio-TV Curb And Reduction In Player Limit

Request For $7,000 Minimum Salary For Players Is Denied

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Baseball's minor leagues won improved working agreements from the major leagues today but lost their battle for lower player limits and curbs on radio and TV broadcasts.

The 16 player representatives who had forwarded their requests in writing suffered much the same fate as the minors' program. Requests for a minimum salary increase from $6,000 to $7,200 and for permission to deal directly with Caribbean clubs were denied. The players did get the right to receive contracts Jan. 15, instead of Feb. 1.

Most of the club representatives who had attended the minor league convention at Houston last week headed home after the joint meeting. A few remained in town, hoping to complete a deal to try to match trader Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, busiest man in baseball.

According to Frick, the improved working agreements will "put more financial burden on the major league clubs and increase the return to the minor leagues, particularly in classes B, C, and D."

Under the new deal, the minors will get $3,500 in class B, $3,000 in class C and $2,500 in class D for agreeing to let a major league team select players from its roster at the end of the season. The majors will carry much of the spring training and transportation expenses and pay part of the manager's salary. As the minors already had passed the amendment, it now becomes part of the major-minor agreement.

Commissioner Frick cast the decisive ballot against cutting the player limit from 25 to 23 men, after the National voted for the reduction and the American against it.

Under the proposed radio-TV amendment, all commercial baseball broadcasts would have been banned on stations outside a club's home area (50 miles). Both leagues voted "no" unanimously, without much discussion.

Although the minors had rejected a "college rule," somewhat similar to the "high school rule" at the Houston convention, the majors affirmed their action of last summer, effective Sept. 1, 1955. Under the "college rule," college students may not be signed to baseball contracts after the start of their sophomore year until their class graduates, or until they reach their 21st birthday.

"We hope the minors will reconsider," said Frick. "In any event, we intend to live up to our original agreement, covering 1955 and 1956."

An involved new rule was adopted by the majors, covering stock ownership in clubs. Under the rule nobody connected with one club can own any stock "or any other proprietary interest or financial interest" in any other major league club.

Presumably this would rule out any situations such as developed when Arnold Johnson who owned Yankee Stadium, wanted to buy the Philadelphia A's and shift them to Kansas City. The deal finally was approved on the condition that Johnson dispose of his Yankee Stadium interests.

Beall Athletes Receive Awards

FROSTBURG — An athletics award assembly was held last week at Beall High School.

Gold sweaters were presented to Kenneth Johnson and Glenn Blank, both seniors, by J. Stanley Hunter, member of the faculty. The sweaters are presented annually by the local F. O. Eagles Lodge.

Johnson received his sweater for all-around performance in soccer, while Blank earned his for outstanding work in football.

Mrs. Mildred Fritz and Coach Edward Finzel, directors of the intramural program, awarded banners to the winners in the sports events. Certificates were also given to students selected to the All-Star teams. Coach Ray Hull and Coach Finzel presented letter awards to the members of the football and soccer teams.

Entertainment was by the "Typing Trio," Richard Hawkins, Kenneth Johnson and Edward Truly, accompanied by Janice Bradley. The trio presented a comedy skit.

Generals Will Play Seven Grid Games

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 7 (AP) — Washington and Lee's football team will return to intercollegiate varsity competition next year with a seven-game schedule against southern and midwestern small colleges.

A far cry from "killer" schedules which have characterized W&L football in recent years, the slate includes only one "traditional" rival, Davidson College of North Carolina, and one Virginia school, Hampden-Sydney.

The complete schedules include: —Oct. 8—Centre College in Lexington; Oct. 15—Davidson, there; Oct. 22 — Southwestern of Memphis, Tenn., in Lexington; Oct. 29 — Washington University of St. Louis, there; Nolv. 5 — Hampden-Sydney, there; Nov. 12 — Sewanee there; Nov. 19 — West Virginia Tech in Lexington.

A coach has not been named.

Moorefield Plays Mathias; Hyndman To Host Rockwood

Moorefield High School, which usually rates a top contender for the Potomac Valley Conference championship, will open its season tonight by playing Mathias High School at the latter place.

Coach Jonathan Paugh's Yellow Jackets will be without two of their last season's stars in Marion Deahl, high point man in the P.V.-C., and Joe Calhoun, center, but otherwise the Jackets will have sufficient strength to make it interesting for the other teams. Moorefield won 16 and lost 7 last season. Tonight's game also will be the opener for Coach Wendell Mathias' cagers.

Hyndman High will be striving to sweep its series with Rockwood when the teams clash in a return game in Hyndman tonight. Coach Chris Stoner's Hornets won their opener at Rockwood last week, 39-34.

Paw Paw High's Pirates are scheduled to invade Berkeley County tonight to play Hedgesville High School.

Carl Hartman Breaks Three WVIAC Records

A-B Player Hoops 23 Straight Foul Shots

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP)—Carl Hartman did more than help Alderson-Broaddus win a basketball game last night when he made good all 23 of his free throw attempts.

The 5-11 senior from Ridgeley topped a major college record for consecutive free throws, although his performance against Salem College won't go into the record books.

Records of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed today that the major college record is 18 out of 18, a mark set by Jay Handlan of Washington and Lee in 1950.

The bureau said, however, that no free throw statistics are kept on the nation's small colleges.

Hartman's unusual performance at Salem also broke three West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference records. The three are highest total of free throws without a miss, most free throws made in a single game, and the most made successively in one game.

Hartman already held the record for the most free throws made successively in more than one game. He tossed in 34 straigtht last season, over a span of five games.

The cage star's dead eye from the foul line also helped him pick up 49 additional points toward a career scoring total which now stands at 2,404.

That puts him just 133 short of the all-time national record for small colleges - 2,537 - held by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle. The identical number of points also is the career record among West Virginia players and was set by George King, who played for Morris Harvey for four years ending in 1949-50.

Redskins Retain Coach Kuharich

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Joe Kuharich was afforded a rare opportunity today, a chance to improve on a poor season as coach of the Washington Redskins. The club signed him as coach for another season.

The Notre Dame graduate has turned in a season of two victories and nine defeats with one game yet to go, but on the whole that's a pretty good record considering the difficulties under which he labored.

George Preston Marshall, Redskins' owner, seemed to think so, too. In a statement to newsmen, Marshall said that despite severe handicaps and mounting injuries, Kuharich "never alibied for himself and never complained.'

Marshall usually will have no truck with non-winning coaches. He has let seven coaches go since World War II.

Yanks Sign Howard

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Elston Howard, sensational Negro rookie of the New York Yankees, signed his 1955 contract today and was ordered to report immediately to San Juan, Puerto Rico, for the winter baseball season.

Howard is the fourth Yankee to sign for next year. The others are Tommy Byrne, Whitey Ford and Yogi Berra.

He is the second Negro on the Yankee roster and probably will be the first of his race to play for the Bronx Bombers. Vic Power, also a Negro, was traded by the Yankees to the Philadelphia Athletics last winter without having played a game for New York.

Boxing Writers Vote Bobo Olson Fighter Of Year

Champion To Receive Edward J. Neil Plaque

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, today was voted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "fighter of the year" for 1954 by the Boxing Writers Association.

The 26-year-old, Hawaiian-born Olson will receive the award at the association's annual dinner at the Hotel New Yorker, Jan. 13.

Olson, now a San Francisco resident, puts his title on the line for the third time this year on Dec. 15 against France's Pierre Langlois in San Francisco.

A busy fighter in the ring, and truly a fighting champion, Olson won the 160-pound title by walloping England's Randy Turpin in New York, Oct. 21, 1953.

He whipped Cuba's Kid Gavilan in his first defense in Chicago, April 2, and followed up with a decisive triumph over Cleveland's Rocky Castellani the No. 1 contender at the time, in San Francisco, Aug. 20.

The Neil Plaque is presented annually to the fighter of the year and the man who did most to advance the sport during the year. It is named in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1938 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.

Olson received a unanimous vote from the 39 voting members. He succeeds Gavilan, the former welterweight champion.

A pro since 1945, balding Bobo has compiled a 59-6 record with 28 knockouts. He has won 17 straight including six this year. His last loss was a close 15-round decision to Ray Robinson, then the middleweight king, in a title bout in San Francisco, May 13, 1952.

Ladies' Shuffle Teams Primed For 2nd Half

The second half of the Allegany County Ladies' Shuffleboard season is scheduled to get underway tonight with four matches billed here and one at Frostburg.

Clingerman's, leading the race by four full games over Frostburg American Legion, shoots it out with Cas Taylor's at the latter place.

Frostburg Legion visits Pocahontas, Woodmen of the World at Purple Heart Club, Golden Nugget at Stadium Inn, Frostburg, and Cresaptown Firemen at Hi-Dee Club.

The league will be idle the weeks of Dec. 15, 22 and 29 and play will be resumed January 5, 1955.

Giannelli Wins

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Italy's Nazzareno Giannelli tonight won on a fourth round technical knockout over Jake Tuli, former British Empire flyweight champion, when the South African suffered a bad cut over his right eye. Gianelli weighed 113¾. Tuli 113¾.

In the 12 months ending Oct. 31, United States scheduled international airlines flew 2,760,000 passengers more than 3,660,000,000 miles without a fatal accident.

To Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender, and Willie Troy, 21-year-old Washington middleweight, today were signed for an eight-round bout in Madison Square Garden on Jan. 7.

The two originally were scheduled for Nov. 19 but Troy was forced to bow out because of a shoulder injury. Patterson met Jimmy Slade instead and won decisively.

Robinson Dismissed As Tennessee Coach

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 7 (AP)—The University of Tennessee Athletic Council dismissed Harvey Robinson as head football coach today but did not immediately name his successor.

The council voted unanimously not to renew Robinson's contract when it expires Dec. 31.

Chairman N. W. Dougherty said a committee was named to seek a suitable head coach from any available possibilities. He added that the committee will make its recommendations to the council at a later date.

Robinson's dismissal came as no surprise. The Vols' 4-6 record this season was the poorest since 1924 and had prompted reports that Robinson would not be retained.

Stock Market Closes High Despite Period Of Selling

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market ran through a period of selling today and then closed higher in a final rally.

Gains amounted to 2 to 4 points in several instances. Losses, at one time rather large, finally were confined to between 1 and 2 points at the outside in key areas.

Railroads were the rally point for the market at the close. Most other major divisions had a hand in the rise. The motors and aircrafts, however, were indifferent and ended mixed at the worst.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents at $150.80, a level equal to Sept. 23, 1929.

New highs were set by the three components of the average. Industrials were up 70 cents at $205.80, railroads gained 30 cents at $115.80, and utilities were higher by 20 cents at $68.30.

Pennsylvania Railroad topped the most active list up 5/8 at 20⅝ on 76,800 shares. It was followed by Alleghany Corp. Up 3/8 at 7⅛, New York Central up ¾ at 28, Spiegel up ½ at 10⅝ and Continental Motors up ½ at 11¼.

Among stocks advancing with net gain were Louisville & Nashville up 3¾, Southern Railway up 2¼. American Telephone up 7/8, Bethlehem Steel up 1¼, Western Union up 3, Anaconda Copper up 1⅝, Goodrich up 1¼, Pan American World Airways up 5/8, Eastern Air Lines up 1¼, U. S. Gypsum up 6½, United Aircraft up ½, Radio Corp. up ⅛, Union Carbide up 2⅛, and Raytheon up 1.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (INS) — Major league club owners are now in solemn conclave assembled, prepared to deal with the usual number of squawks from the minors.

And, as usual, the majors once more will prove that the biggest chumps in the world aren't the two-buck race track bettors but the owners of minor league clubs.

The majors will accept any proposal that doesn't tap their own pocketbooks but will turn down all that in any way costs them anything.

The majors calmly move into any minor league territory they covet (Milwaukee, Baltimore, Denver), and pay what they want.

They know the broadest of major league games into minor league territory has ruined the minors. But what do they care? The majors are getting theirs through TV and if the minors lose out, what of it?

That leaves the minors with two alternatives — they can close up shop or cut loose entirely from the majors and operate on their own.

The majors feel that they can go it alone even without the minors. They count on the growing little leagues, the American Legion program, industrial leagues and colleges to supply a continuing stream of ball players for the majors.

Suppose this should lead to a falling off in the quality of major league play, what of it? Don't TV fans put up with phony wrestling and putrid fights? What reason is there to suppose they wouldn't stand for poor baseball, so long as it were free?

It may be that within a year or two the minors will dig up nerve enough to declare their complete independence from the majors but, judging by their meek acceptance of everything the majors have done to them in the past, we doubt it.

The minors talk a good fight but their battling usually results in a lot of frothy words. Now and then the majors toss them a small bone to keep them quiet, and that ends it.

One point all too overlooked in the question of television in relation to the minors, is that minor league towns, and even towns not in any league, already are geared to major league play and probably would continue to demand it.

Minor league towns, deserting their own local teams in droves, to sit home and watch major leaguers play for free, now would be reluctant to return to pay to see their minor leaguers play, even if they were deprived of television.

It seems to us that a deal could be worked out whereby all fans everywhere would pay a nominal sum to watch a 'elevised game and that in such a deal the minors could cut in on enough profits to make it worth their while to run ball clubs.

Meanwhile, the majors will decide what to do with the minor league squawks, probably hand out a few crumbs and the minors will go back home disgruntled as usual, and wait for a similar run-around a year from now. Ho-hun.

Robinson Dismissed As Tennessee Coach

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 7 (AP)—The University of Tennessee Athletic Council dismissed Harvey Robinson as head football coach today but did not immediately name his successor.

The council voted unanimously not to renew Robinson's contract when it expires Dec. 31.

Chairman N. W. Dougherty said a committee was named to seek a suitable head coach from any available possibilities. He added that the committee will make its recommendations to the council at a later date.

Robinson's dismissal came as no surprise. The Vols' 4-6 record this season was the poorest since 1924 and had prompted reports that Robinson would not be retained.

Stock Market Closes High Despite Period Of Selling

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market ran through a period of selling today and then closed higher in a final rally.

Gains amounted to 2 to 4 points in several instances. Losses, at one time rather large, finally were confined to between 1 and 2 points at the outside in key areas.

Railroads were the rally point for the market at the close. Most other major divisions had a hand in the rise. The motors and aircrafts, however, were indifferent and ended mixed at the worst.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents at $150.80, a level equal to Sept. 23, 1929.

New highs were set by the three components of the average. Industrials were up 70 cents at $205.80, railroads gained 30 cents at $115.80, and utilities were higher by 20 cents at $68.30.

Pennsylvania Railroad topped the most active list up ⅝ at 20⅝ on 76,800 shares. It was followed by Alleghany Corp. Up ⅜ at 7⅛, New York Central up ¾ at 28, Spiegel up ½ at 10⅝ and Continental Motors up ½ at 11¼.

Among stocks advancing with net gain were Louisville & Nashville up 3¾, Southern Railway up 2¼, American Telephone up ⅞, Bethlehem Steel up 1¼, Western Union up 3, Anaconda Copper up 1⅝, Goodrich up 1¼, Pan American World Airways up ⅝, Eastern Air Lines up 1¼, U. By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (INS) — Major league club owners are now in solemn conclave assembled, prepared to deal with the usual number of squawks from the minors.

And, as usual, the majors once more will prove that the biggest chumps in the world aren't the two-buck race track bettors but the owners of minor league clubs.

The majors will accept any proposal that doesn't tap their own pocketbooks but will turn down all that in any way costs them anything.

The majors calmly move into any minor league territory they covet (Milwaukee, Baltimore, Denver), and pay what they want.

They know the broadest of major league games into minor league territory has ruined the minors. But what do they care? The majors are getting theirs through TV and if the minors lose out, what of it?

That leaves the minors with two alternatives — they can close up shop or cut loose entirely from the majors and operate on their own.

The majors feel that they can go it alone even without the minors. They count on the growing little leagues, the American Legion program, industrial leagues and colleges to supply a continuing stream of ball players for the majors.

Suppose this should lead to a falling off in the quality of major league play, what of it? Don't TV fans put up with phony wrestling and putrid fights? What reason is there to suppose they wouldn't stand for poor baseball, so long as it were free?

It may be that within a year or two the minors will dig up nerve enough to declare their complete independence from the majors but, judging by their meek acceptance of everything the majors have done to them in the past, we doubt it.

The minors talk a good fight but their battling usually results in a lot of frothy words. Now and then the majors toss them a small bone to keep them quiet, and that ends it.

One point all too overlooked in the question of television in relation to the minors, is that minor league towns, and even towns not in any league, already are geared to major league play and probably would continue to demand it.

Minor league towns, deserting their own local teams in droves, to sit home and watch major leaguers play for free, now would be reluctant to return to pay to see their minor leaguers play, even if they were deprived of television.

It seems to us that a deal could be worked out whereby all fans everywhere would pay a nominal sum to watch a televised game and that in such a deal the minors could cut in on enough profits to make it worth their while to run ball clubs.

Meanwhile, the majors will decide what to do with the minor league squawks, probably hand out a few crumbs and the minors will go back home disgruntled as usual, and wait for a similar run-around a year from now. Ho-hun.

Poor Drainage Suit Settled In Court Here

Stipulation Ends Legal Action

An equity suit concerning poor drainage conditions in the Woodlawn section of LaVale was settled out of court yesterday after Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris had spent all morning listening to evidence in the case in Allegany County Circuit Court.

John B. Waugh, RFD 1, Woodlawn, had filed the action against Roy C. Lottig, 519 Washington Street, and the Board of County Commissioners.

In his bill of complaint, filed by Attorney John M. Robb, Waugh stated that in 1941 he had purchased a lot and built a house and garage on the south side of Third Street about 100 feet from Ren Roy Drive in the Woodlawn Addition of LaVale.

About 1943, Waugh continued, Lottig purchased several acres west of and adjacent to Ren Roy Drive and about 1946 subdivided the area into Ren Roy Addition. He opened a street which was an extension of Third Street, graded and raised it.

As a result, Waugh contended, surface water began to flow onto Third Street. Later the county commissioners surfaced Ren Roy Drive with gravel and tar which speeded the flow of water. Waugh charged that his land was damaged by the flow of water and he was forced to spend sums of money to employ men to remove mud and debris from his driveway and garage.

Filed yesterday after the verbal settlement was a stipulation signed by the three attorneys involved in the case, Robb, Clarence Lippel for Lottig and Gorman E. Getty for the county commissioners. In it they agree that the bill of complaint will be dismissed upon the payment of $300 by Lottig to Waugh in full settlement.

Furthermore, the county commissioners agree to remedy the drainage situation which now exists in the vicinity of Third Street and Ren Roy Drive so as to divert water away from the Waugh property. This work will be commenced as soon as possible but no later than next June 30, according to the stipulation.

Rock Salt May Have Caused Youth's Death

Elkins Murder Trial Testimony Concluded

ELKINS, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP)—The possibility that Richard Lee Liller may have been slain by a shotgun charge of rock salt was raised by the defense at a murder trial today.

Edgar Burton Johnson, 34, of the Dry Fork section of Randolph County, is on trial in Circuit Court charged with the fatal shooting Sept. 14 of Liller, 17, a resident of Cleveland, Ohio.

A pathologist, Dr. Frank Beckel who was at that time attached to the staff of an Elkins hospital, testified today that he examined Liller's body soon after the slaying.

He said he found several neck perforations - about 40 in all - but was able to find no exit wounds and no lead pellets were discovered in the body.

He told the jury that if the shotgun shell had been loaded with rock salt, the body could have absorbed the substance and thus accounted for the unexplained questions raised by his examination.

The prosecution rested its case early this afternoon, and the defense concluded its presentation with the testimony of the defendant, Johnson.

Testifying in his own behalf, Johnson denied firing a shot into a group on the highway, as the state alleges. He said he fell down and the gun was discharged harmlessly into the air.

Earlier, the state had introduced over vigorous defense objections a statement attributed to Johnson in which he allegedly admitted firing into the group on the road. The statement was presented during testimony by State Trooper W. A. Steffic, who said Johnson admitted shooting Liller the morning after the shooting occurred.

When court recessed this afternoon, all that remained were instructions of the judge and summations of opposing counsel.

The jury is expected to begin deliberations before noon tomorrow.

Two other men, William Joseph Johnson, 30, a brother of the defendent, and Garnett Wilfong, 40, were indicted on charges of aiding and abetting in the murder. No date has been set for their trials.

County Election Campaign Carried $22,292 Price Tag

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

There was a $22,292.03 price tag on the campaign which heralded the November 2 general election in Allegany County.

Reports filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court in behalf of 21 candidates and the State Central committees of the two political parties show expenditures totalling $22,292.03.

Most of the campaign funds were disbursed through the two state central committees. The Republicans reported their state central committee spent $8,401.76 while the Democrats said their committee disbursed $6,602.73. That means a total of $15,004.49 spent by the two committees.

It also must be said that in general the biggest individual campaign spenders were not the winners. Only one of the five campaigns costing the most money was successful.

The highest campaign expenditure on behalf of an individual candidates were those of A. Lee Marple in his unsuccessful bid for county commissioner as an independent. His report shows $1,438.16 in expenditures.

Next was the successful campaign of State Senator Robert B. Kimble. The re-elected state senator and his campaign treasurer, Donald W. Mason, reported spending a total of $1,381.40 in his campaign.

Following Kimble in total expenditures were three defeated Democrats. William L. Wilson, Kimble's opponent, and his treasurer, Raymond J. Miller, spent $988.10 in the campaign, their reports reveal. Then came Graydon S. Dunlap, defeated for sheriff, who spent $614.84, and Leslie J. Clark, who lost out for a House of Delegates seat, with a $388.79 campaign.

An analysis of the campaign figures by individual contests shows that the most costly was the Kimble-Wilson fight for the State Senate. Their total expenditures of $2,369.50 averaged to $1,184.75 per candidate.

Next came the Sheriff's race where Edward R. Muir, re-elected, spent $273.30 and Dunlap $614.84, a total of $888.14 and an average of $444.07.

Close behind that contest was the five-man race for the three county commissioner seats where the five spent a total of $2,190.57, an average of $438.11. Marple dispensed about two thirds of that. He was followed in order by the three successful Republicans, Charles N. Wilkinson, $290; James Orr, $193.86, and William H. Lemmert, $157.39, and James P. Russell, the unsuccessful Democrat, $111.16.

Least expensive of the campaigns was the eight-man fight for the six seats in the House of Delegates. The eight spent an aggregate of $1,556.33, an average of $194.54. Clark set the expense pace with $388.79, followed by Fred B. Driscoll, $246.35; George R. Hughes Jr., $208.63; Estel C. Kelley, $178.16; Lester B. Reed, $159.54; Charles M. See, $141.65; Charles O. Buskirk, $126.42, and Noel Speir Cook, $106.79. Buskirk was the other defeated candidate.

Four unopposed candidates who submitted their campaign reports spent a total of $283, an average of $70.75 per man. They included State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, $109; Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart, $80; James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, $64, and County Treasurer James W. Bishop, $30.

No reports have been filed by four other re-elected officials, all of whom were unopposed in the general election. They are the three judges of Orphans Court, William C. Abbott, Hugh Stevenson and J. French VanMeter, and Boden.

The $22,292.03 reported spent in the past campaign averages to $1,173.26 for each of the 19 positions at stake.

The three appointees will fill circuit judgeships created by referendum in the November 2 election this year.

A Garrett County Republican, Senator Fraley was born in Oakland April 18, 1894 and attended the public schools of that community.

Christmas Food Orders Taken By Salvation Army

Kettle Drive Brings Yule Fund To $417

The Salvation Army announced yesterday that 350 families of Allegany County have applied for Christmas food orders.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel, said the applications for Christmas aid are heavy and may reach the 1,000 mark.

He said all applications are being taken at the Salvation Army Citadel at 115 North Mechanic Street and that all should be in by December 15, since the food orders must be mailed and applications checked with other agencies to avoid duplication.

Help Suggest Names

Red Cross workers in communities outside of Cumberland, he said, are cooperating in recommending needy families in their areas, and similar cooperation is being offered by the Board of Education.

The Salvation Army Christmas Kettle drive, he reported, has brought in $386 and mailed donations $31 to bring the Christmas Aid fund to the $417.95 mark.

Additional funds will be secured Saturday, he said, when the Rotary and Lions clubs of Frostburg and Lonaconing man kettles from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Similar drives will be held by clubs in Cumberland and the Tri-Towns on December 18.

To Award Kettle

Capt. Biggs said the Frostburg Rotary Club led in club kettle collections made last year.

This year, a miniature Salvation Army kettle will be presented to the club which secures the largest contributions.

The kettle will contain a plaque on which the club's name will be engraved, and the kettle will become the permanent possession of the service club which holds it in its possession for the greatest number of years over the next five years.

Groups To Help Form Club For Senior Citizens

Plans Are Announced By Rec Department

The City Recreation Department yesterday received offers of aid from 17 local organizations in its plans for organizing a club for senior citizens of Cumberland next month.

Plans for forming the club were explained by Robert E. Pence, recreation director, to the representatives from churches, playground associations and civic organizations at a meeting held in the Ladies lounge of the Elks Home.

Pence announced that officials of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, have offered the use of the lounge for the Thursday afternoon meetings of the club comprising citizens who are 65 or over.

Organizations for senior citizens, he added, are being successfully sponsored by the Recreation Department of many cities, and are gaining in popularity in all sections of the country.

Officials of the organizations promised to submit lists of names of persons who may be interested in joining the club. Those who are not contacted through a group, but are interested in becoming members, were asked to call the Recreation Department for additional information.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, director of special group activities, greeted the representatives. She said activities will include quiet games, such as checkers and chess, group singing, handicrafts, celebration of special events, including birthdays of members, and in good weather, picnics and outings.

Christmas refreshments were served.

Young Democrat Club To Elect New Officers

Voting By Mail Or In Person Permitted

The Young Democrat Club of Allegany County will hold its annual election December 17 at 9:15 p. m. in the Algonquin Hotel, according to Thomas F. Conlon Jr., president. Arrangements are also being made for balloting by mail.

The club annually elects four officers, and a nominating committee comprised of Mrs. Anne Everline and James Conlon has presented two candidates for each office.

Leo Stakem, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Thomas Barton, local dairy farmer and former state policeman, are candidates for president.

Robert J. Adams, North Lee Street, and Joseph Montana, Frostburg, are candidates for vice president.

William B. Orndorff and Mary Small are candidates for secretary.

Mrs. Frederick Warner, Cresaptown, and Edward J. Flanagan, Frostburg, are candidates for treasurer.

Mrs. Everline is now holding both offices of secretary and treasurer and the only other active officer is Conlon, president.

The committee in charge of the election has arranged to mail secret balolts to all members, which can be returned by mail or presented at the meeting next week.

Provision is made on all ballots for write-in candidates, in the event that any member wishes to vote for other than those nominated. All write-in votes will be tabulated and will be acceptable, Conlon explained.

Death Of Hunter Is Attributed To Monoxide

The death of Paul Crodell Kelley, 50, of Rockville, who was found dead in his trailer early Sunday night near Swallow Falls State Park in Garrett County, was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning, according to a report last night by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy medical examiner for Garrett County.

An autopsy was performed on Kelley's body by Dr. Benjamin Skitarelic, local pathologist, and a report was given to Dr. Baumgartner. The victim, who had gone to Garrett County on a hunting trip, was apparently dead about 48 hours before his body was discovered by Game Warden Ward Ashby.

Dr. Baumgartner said Ashby reported a definite gas ordor was detected as the trailer was forced open. A small oil lamp was burning low when the body was discovered, Dr. Baumgartner said, and a small charcoal type stove in the trailer apparently had been put to use since ashes were found in it.

All the cracks of the trailer were stuffed with an insulating material in an effort to keep out the cold air, he added.

It was presumed that the victim arrived in the county on Friday, driving a jeep with the trailer attached. He was alone. Merle Wilt and Ellis Martin Jr., forest wardens, aided in opening the trailer.

Deer Hunters Find Missing US Mail Bag

A man and his wife hunting deer on Wills Mountain about eight miles from Cumberland yesterday made an unusual discovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Dawson, while walking through a wooded section, found a United States mail bag, partially filled with mail.

They notified postal authorities of the discovery and when a supervisor took the mail bag to the Post Ofifce, it was found to have been one lost from a mail plane last June 3.

Containing a quantity of mail, mostly for Baltimore business houses, the bag had started to deteriorate, but most of the letters were in good condition and will be delivered as originally intended.

According to Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster, a mail plane flying at a high altitude lost several sacks of mail when a lower compartment door came open. Mail is believed to have been scattered over a wide area, and this is the first recovery reported.

Youth Injured In Shooting

Robert Stuckey, 13, of RFD 2, Bedford, Pa., is reported in fair condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted Monday after being shot in the abdomen at his home.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Stuckey was hit in the lower abdomen near the hip by a rifled slug from a 410 gauge shotgun, according to State Police.

Young Stuckey apparently was shot accidentally while he and another boy were playing in the Stuckey home. Full details were not available, pending a complete check by police, who said the shooting was accidental.

The boy was admitted to the hospital and underwent a lengthy operation. Hospital spokesmen said, however, that surgeons had not been able to locate the slug lodged in his body.

The Weather

Mr. Winter kept his cold grip on the Cumberland area yesterday although the temperature moderated somewhat during the afternoon. And the wind was not so rough on pedestrians. The forecast for today is for some cloudiness and not so cold this evening. The mercury is expected to be in the mid-30s this afternoon. The official high temperature yesterday was 29 degrees with a low reading of 15 degrees and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury was registered at 24 degrees.

Yule Decorations Being Readied At Monastery Here

The Capuchin Brothers of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery are now preparing the Christmas decorations for the monastery grounds.

A new, almost life-size Nativity scene is being built for the north wall overlooking the Market Street Bridge.

Another large crib will be set up again on the patio in front of the parish church.

And now that the Christmas spirit is really in the air, the Brothers are anxious to go out into the woods for pines, hemlocks and holly to dress up the house for Christmas.

Rec Board To Meet

The City Recreation Board will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the mayor's office at City Hall.

VFW Plans Yule Party For Tots

Preliminary plans for a Christmas party for underprivileged children of Cumberland were made last night at a meeting of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW.

Some 75 children will attend the party at 2 p. m. on December 18 at the post home and will enjoy a turkey dinner complete with all the trimmings.

And each of the children will receive an appropriate Christmas gift. The children who attend the party will be invited through the Associated Charities, Allegany County League for Crippled Children and the Allegany County Welfare Board. Committee chairman is Guy Smith.

Man Seeks Conviction Overthrow

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Heinz A. Schroder, who was sentenced to three years in Maryland Penitentiary for bigamy in Cumberland last April, today argued for overthrow of his conviction by the Court of Appeals.

He was convicted in Allegany County Circuit Court of marrying Betty Jane Wilson in Cumberland May 30, 1952, while he was still married to Elsie Walther Schroder from a Hoboken, N.J., wedding.

The court found he changed his name to Johannas A. Schroder for the second marriage.

Schroder's attorney, Harold E. Naughton, argued in his brief submitted to the high court today that a marriage certificate from the 1947 wedding should not have been admitted as evidence since it was merely "the usual certificate given by a minister to a couple after he has performed the marriage ceremoney" and not a document of a court or office.

He further argued that the court should not have continued the case after arguments had been concluded to admit more evidence.

Associated Charities Plans Open House At Toy Center

The Associated Charities will hold open house at its Santa's Toy Center at 75 North Centre Street for those who are interested in the civic project, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary.

Miss Bonig said all friends of the Associated Charities toy project will be welcome to inspect the thousands of toys on Friday and Saturday and next Monday.

The toy collection, she said, has been made possible by the dozens of groups, clubs, schools, sororities and individuals, whose "little or big bit" will make possible the distribution of toys to the children of some 300 families of the community.

The Board of Directors of the Associated Charities will meet Friday and will inspect the toy center from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Mothers of families who are aided by the Red Feather agency have given appointments, from December 14 to 17, to come to the toy center and select toys according to the needs of their children.

Miss Bonig said it is hoped that enough toys will be available to provide one big and several small toys for each child.

For a number of years, the Associated Charities has been coordinating the efforts of many groups and individuals who make the toy project possible.

The Red Feather agency this week registered 363 families for surplus foods to be distributed during January, slightly less than the 378 who signed up for foods this month.

Poor Drainage Suit Settled In Court Here

Stipulation Ends Legal Action

An equity suit concerning poor drainage conditions in the Woodlawn section of LaVale was settled out of court yesterday after Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris had spent all morning listening to evidence in the case in Allegany County Circuit Court.

John B. Waugh, RFD 1, Woodlawn, had filed the action against Roy C. Lottig, 519 Washington Street, and the Board of County Commissioners.

In his bill of complaint, filed by Attorney John M. Robb, Waugh stated that in 1941 he had purchased a lot and built a house and garage on the south side of Third Street about 100 feet from Ren Roy Drive in the Woodlawn Addition of LaVale.

About 1943, Waugh continued, Lottig purchased several acres west of and adjacent to Ren Roy Drive and about 1946 subdivided the area into Ren Roy Addition. He opened a street which was an extension of Third Street, graded and raised it.

As a result, Waugh contended, surface water began to flow onto Third Street. Later the county commissioners surfaced Ren Roy Drive with gravel and tar which speeded the flow of water. Waugh charged that his land was damaged by the flow of water and he was forced to spend sums of money to employ men to remove mud and debris from his driveway and garage.

Filed yesterday after the verbal settlement was a stipulation signed by the three attorneys involved in the case, Robb, Clarence Lippel for Lottig and Gorman E. Getty for the county commissioners. In it they agree that the bill of complaint will be dismissed upon the payment of $300 by Lottig to Waugh in full settlement.

Furthermore, the county commissioners agree to remedy the drainage situation which now exists in the vicinity of Third Street and Ren Roy Drive so as to divert water away from the Waugh property. This work will be commenced as soon as possible but no later than next June 30, according to the stipulation.

Rock Salt May Have Caused Youth's Death

Elkins Murder Trial Testimony Concluded

ELKINS, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP)—The possibility that Richard Lee Liller may have been slain by a shotgun charge of rock salt was raised by the defense at a murder trial today.

Edgar Burton Johnson, 34, of the Dry Fork section of Randolph County, is on trial in Circuit Court charged with the fatal shooting Sept. 14 of Liller, 17, a resident of Cleveland, Ohio.

A pathologist, Dr. Frank Beckel who was at that time attached to the staff of an Elkins hospital, testified today that he examined Liller's body soon after the slaying.

He said he found several neck perforations - about 40 in all - but was able to find no exit wounds and no lead pellets were discovered in the body.

He told the jury that if the shotgun shell had been loaded with rock salt, the body could have absorbed the substance and thus accounted for the unexplained questions raised by his examination.

The prosecution rested its case early this afternoon, and the defense concluded its presentation with the testimony of the defendant, Johnson.

Testifying in his own behalf, Johnson denied firing a shot into a group on the highway, as the state alleges. He said he fell down and the gun was discharged harmlessly into the air.

Earlier, the state had introduced over vigorous defense objections a statement attributed to Johnson in which he allegedly admitted firing into the group on the road. The statement was presented during testimony by State Trooper W. A. Steffic, who said Johnson admitted shooting Liller the morning after the shooting occurred.

When court recessed this afternoon, all that remained were instructions of the judge and summations of opposing counsel.

The jury is expected to begin deliberations before noon tomorrow.

Two other men, William Joseph Johnson, 30, a brother of the defendent, and Garnett Wilfong, 40, were indicted on charges of aiding and abetting in the murder. No date has been set for their trials.

County Election Campaign Carried $22,292 Price Tag

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

There was a $22,292.03 price tag on the campaign which heralded the November 2 general election in Allegany County.

Reports filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court in behalf of 21 candidates and the State Central committees of the two political parties show expenditures totalling $22,292.03.

Most of the campaign funds were disbursed through the two state central committees. The Republicans reported their state central committee spent $8,401.76 while the Democrats said their committee disbursed $6,602.73. That means a total of $15,004.49 spent by the two committees.

It also must be said that in general the biggest individual campaign spenders were not the winners. Only one of the five campaigns costing the most money was successful.

The highest campaign expenditure on behalf of an individual candidates were those of A. Lee Marple in his unsuccessful bid for county commissioner as an independent. His report shows $1,438.16 in expenditures.

Next was the successful campaign of State Senator Robert B. Kimble. The re-elected state senator and his campaign treasurer, Donald W. Mason, reported spending a total of $1,381.40 in his campaign.

Following Kimble in total expenditures were three defeated Democrats. William L. Wilson, Kimble's opponent, and his treasurer, Raymond J. Miller, spent $988.10 in the campaign, their reports reveal. Then came Graydon S. Dunlap, defeated for sheriff, who spent $614.84, and Leslie J. Clark, who lost out for a House of Delegates seat, with a $388.79 campaign.

An analysis of the campaign figures by individual contests shows that the most costly was the Kimble-Wilson fight for the State Senate. Their total expenditures of $2,369.50 averaged to $1,184.75 per candidate.

Next came the Sheriff's race where Edward R. Muir, re-elected, spent $273.30 and Dunlap $614.84, a total of $888.14 and an average of $444.07.

Close behind that contest was the five-man race for the three county commissioner seats where the five spent a total of $2,190.57, an average of $438.11. Marple dispensed about two thirds of that. He was followed in order by the three successful Republicans, Charles N. Wilkinson, $290; James Orr, $193.86, and William H. Lemmert, $157.39, and James P. Russell, the unsuccessful Democrat, $111.16.

Least expensive of the campaigns was the eight-man fight for the six seats in the House of Delegates. The eight spent an aggregate of $1,556.33, an average of $194.54. Clark set the expense pace with $388.79, followed by Fred B. Driscoll, $246.35; George R. Hughes Jr., $208.63; Estel C. Kelley, $178.16; Lester B. Reed, $159.54; Charles M. See, $141.65; Charles O. Buskirk, $126.42, and Noel Speir Cook, $106.79. Buskirk was the other defeated candidate.

Four unopposed candidates who submitted their campaign reports spent a total of $283, an average of $70.75 per man. They included State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, $109; Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart, $80; James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, $64, and County Treasurer James W. Bishop, $30.

No reports have been filed by four other re-elected officials, all of whom were unopposed in the general election. They are the three judges of Orphans Court, William C. Abbott, Hugh Stevenson and J. French VanMeter, and Boden.

The $22,292.03 reported spent in the past campaign averages to $1,173.26 for each of the 19 positions at stake.

Christmas Food Orders Taken By Salvation Army

Kettle Drive Brings Yule Fund To $417

The Salvation Army announced yesterday that 350 families of Allegany County have applied for Christmas food orders.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel, said the applications for Christmas aid are heavy and may reach the 1,000 mark.

He said all applications are being taken at the Salvation Army Citadel at 115 North Mechanic Street and that all should be in by December 15, since the food orders must be mailed and applications checked with other agencies to avoid duplication.

Red Cross workers in communities outside of Cumberland, he said, are cooperating in recommending needy families in their areas, and similar cooperation is being offered by the Board of Education.

The Salvation Army Christmas Kettle drive, he reported, has brought in $386 and mailed donations $31 to bring the Christmas Aid fund to the $417.95 mark.

Additional funds will be secured Saturday, he said, when the Rotary and Lions clubs of Frostburg and Lonaconing man kettles from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Similar drives will be held by clubs in Cumberland and the Tri-Towns on December 18.

To Award Kettle

Capt. Biggs said the Frostburg Rotary Club led in club kettle collections made last year.

This year, a miniature Salvation Army kettle will be presented to the club which secures the largest contributions.

The kettle will contain a plaque on which the club's name will be engraved, and the kettle will become the permanent possession of the service club which holds it in its possession for the greatest number of years over the next five years.

Organizations for senior citizens, he added, are being successfully sponsored by the Recreation Department of many cities, and are gaining in popularity in all sections of the country.

Officials of the organizations promised to submit lists of names of persons who may be interested in joining the club. Those who are not contacted through a group, but are interested in becoming members, were asked to call the Recreation Department for additional information.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, director of special group activities, greeted the representatives. She said activities will include quiet games, such as checkers and chess, group singing, handicrafts, celebration of special events, including birthdays of members, and in good weather, picnics and outings.

Death Of Hunter Is Attributed To Monoxide

The death of Paul Crodell Kelley, 50, of Rockville, who was found dead in his trailer early Sunday night near Swallow Falls State Park in Garrett County, was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning, according to a report last night by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy medical examiner for Garrett County.

An autopsy was performed on Kelley's body by Dr. Benjamin Skitarelic, local pathologist, and a report was given to Dr. Baumgartner. The victim, who had gone to Garrett County on a hunting trip, was apparently dead about 48 hours before his body was discovered by Game Warden Ward Ashby.

Dr. Baumgartner said Ashby reported a definite gas ordor was detected as the trailer was forced open. A small oil lamp was burning low when the body was discovered, Dr. Baumgartner said, and a small charcoal type stove in the trailer apparently had been put to use since ashes were found in it.

All the cracks of the trailer were stuffed with an insulating material in an effort to keep out the cold air, he added.

It was presumed that the victim arrived in the county on Friday, driving a jeep with the trailer attached. He was alone. Merle Wilt and Ellis Martin Jr., forest wardens, aided in opening the trailer.

A man and his wife hunting deer on Wills Mountain about eight miles from Cumberland yesterday made an unusual discovery.

Man Seeks Conviction Overthrow

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Heinz A. Schroder, who was sentenced to three years in Maryland Penitentiary for bigamy in Cumberland last April, today argued for overthrow of his conviction by the Court of Appeals.

He was convicted in Allegany County Circuit Court of marrying Betty Jane Wilson in Cumberland May 30, 1952, while he was still married to Elsie Walther Schroder from a Hoboken, N.J., wedding.

The court found he changed his name to Johannas A. Schroder for the second marriage.

Schroder's attorney, Harold E. Naughton, argued in his brief submitted to the high court today that a marriage certificate from the 1947 wedding should not have been admitted as evidence since it was merely "the usual certificate given by a minister to a couple after he has performed the marriage ceremoney" and not a document of a court or office.

He further argued that the court should not have continued the case after arguments had been concluded to admit more evidence.

Associated Charities Plans Open House At Toy Center

The Associated Charities will hold open house at its Santa's Toy Center at 75 North Centre Street for those who are interested in the civic project, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary.

Miss Bonig said all friends of the Associated Charities toy project will be welcome to inspect the thousands of toys on Friday and Saturday and next Monday.

The toy collection, she said, has been made possible by the dozens of groups, clubs, schools, sororities and individuals, whose "little or big bit" will make possible the distribution of toys to the children of some 300 families of the community.

The Board of Directors of the Associated Charities will meet Friday and will inspect the toy center from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Mothers of families who are aided by the Red Feather agency have given appointments, from December 14 to 17, to come to the toy center and select toys according to the needs of their children.

Miss Bonig said it is hoped that enough toys will be available to provide one big and several small toys for each child.

For a number of years, the Associated Charities has been coordinating the efforts of many groups and individuals who make the toy project possible.

The Red Feather agency this week registered 363 families for surplus foods to be distributed during January, slightly less than the 378 who signed up for foods this month.

County Council PTA Hears Talk On Safety Plan

Twenty-three of the county's 27 schools were represented at a meeting of the Allegany County Council Parent Teacher Association at East Side School Tuesday night with 150 present.

The program featured a talk by Mrs. Lucile Roeder on "Safety," in which she outlined the county's part in S-D Day, December 15. Mrs. Roeder also told of the activities of the local safety council and how continual observance of good safety practices at home, at school, at play and at work, help make the area a better place in which to live.

Mrs. Roder also reminded the PTA groups which sponsor Girl Scout troops, that their troops will provide a program at any PTA meeting. Any other PTA groups which might be interested in scouting may arrange a program by contacting the Girl Scout House, and more sponsors of Girl Scouts are needed, especially in PTA, she said.

A panel gave highlights of the recent PTA Congress held in Baltimore. This panel included Dr. and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg; Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, Mrs. John Lower; Mrs. William Boghtman, Frostburg, and Robert Kerr.

The association accepted an invitation to join the Maryland Council of Education with headquarters in Baltimore. Affiliation to this council is by invitation only, and this is the first time an invitation has been extended the county PTA Council to join.

The Council directed the appointment of a delegation to attend a meeting December 16 in the City Hall Council Chamber, of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children. The delegation includes Mrs. Robert Sutton, Allegany Grove; Mrs. Tom Williamson, Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk, Mrs. Henry Getz, Mrs. Martin Roemer, Mrs. Paul Umberger, Mrs. Lester B. McGill, and Mrs. Stanley Buckley.

A program of instrumental selections was presented by the Dixiecats Orchestra, and Mrs. McGill, who presided, said the next meeting will be held at West Side School February 7.
